TAYLORSLAIN BY BROTHER IS THEORY

Missing Valet May Be
Dennis Taylor, Long
Vanished

ARREST IS EXPECTED
New Solution Presents
Story of Weird
Possibilities

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—The startling theory that Edward F. Sands, valet of William Desmond Taylor, murdered film director, is in reality Taylor's missing brother, Dennis, was developed by detectives here today.

Photographs of Sands now are being sent to Monrovia, Calif., where the deserted wife of the man known as Dennis Deane Tanner, brother of William Deane Tanner, who later became Taylor, lives.

Warrants charging Edward F. Sands with the murder of William Desmond Taylor are today in the hands of Sheriff John Harris of Elko, Nev., where a man answering Sands' description has been under surveillance. An immediate arrest is expected.

The warrants were wired to the Nevada state during the night by Acting Police Lieutenant Toomey, after an exchange of telegrams with the sheriff's office at Elko. If Sands proves to be Dennis Deane Tanner, antique expert and scion of an aristocratic Irish family, detectives believe they will have to deal with one of the weirdest blackmail plots in all history in which a brother bled a brother for years.

GLENDALE REALTY BOARD TO DINE

Second Get-together Meet
Is Scheduled for Tomorrow

The Glendale Realty board will hold its second banquet of the season Wednesday noon in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce building. Every member of the board is urged to be present and is privileged to bring a guest. Reservations should be made through Secretary Hayward, whose telephone number is Glendale 1065.

President Cameron Thom will preside, and the chief after-dinner speaker will be Mr. Mulholland of Long Beach, a well-known realtor of that city, who will talk on the multiple listing system, something that the board is taking up and endeavoring to introduce here. He is said to be the best posted man in the state on his subject. The other speaker will be Secretary James Rhodes of the chamber of commerce.

143 FRESHMEN ENROLL AT HIGH

Enrollment figures at Glendale high up to noon today showed a registration of 143 freshmen and 20 new upper classmen, bringing the total enrollment to date to 1339. This exceeds the estimates of probable enrollment by about 75, but the problem of taking care of all these additional students has been solved in some miraculous fashion, and work is proceeding today in an orderly way with new students as well as upper classmen working all day.

Ninth year students were given lesson assignments for the day morning and the balance of the school in the afternoon, and recitations are proceeding in the customary way.

School officials found it possible to work out a schedule under which the freshmen just registered will be able to work throughout the day as do the older classes. It was feared at one time that they would have to be limited to afternoon classes.

NORTHERN PACIFIC CUT RAIL RATES

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The Burlington, Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways today announced a decrease of approximately 20 per cent in summer fares to Rocky mountain resorts. The new rate will go into effect June 1.

OAK STREET IMPROVEMENTS

A delegation of property holders on Oak street attended the meeting of the city council last night and petitioned that body to start proceedings to pave that street at once. The council listened to the petitions of the property owners and ordered the city engineer and city attorney to start such proceedings at once.

Press Editorial Page Wins Praise From Many Readers

"I read every line of your editorial page every evening. It is to me an inspiration. I find suggestion, thought, now and then a sermon, seldom an attack and always information. I do not always agree with your writers but I believe them to be honest in their opinions. I commend you for the splendid stand your paper takes on all important matters. I am proud to be classed as reader of your paper."

The above is a typical letter which comes to the editorial desk. It is the motive that impels us to try to give each evening an editorial page full of thought, and information. We believe we have in James W. Foley and Henry James two of the brightest minds in the country. We believe that Dr. Frank Crane's articles are outstanding, that John Pilgrim's talks are interesting and that Della Stewart hits the nail on the head regularly.

The editorials are well written, able and understandable. The selection of wise sayings, paragraphs and eastern point of view is carefully done and the scientific facts are always excellent. Read this page tonight and be convinced.

WHEN A MAN IS HUNGRY HE CAN EAT

OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 7.—The Coney Island Grill here was an "oyster grotto" until a stranger recently patronized the establishment.

During a quiet spell in the afternoon, the stranger entered the grill and gave his order to "Mike" Captain, proprietor, for oysters. Mike brought in 12 bivalves in their primitive state.

When the stranger finished Mike stood attentively by:

"What next, please?"

"Oysters," was the answer, "and make them raw."

From that time on the guest ignored the blandishments of the varied bill-of-fare, and ordered oysters in lots of 12 until he had consumed nine dozen, or, for the sake of a possible record, 108 uncooked oysters. Then the supply was exhausted.

Before the stranger left, Mike asked him his name. His name, he said, was John W. Beer, of Oakland. He said he was 67 years old.

Mike thought he had seen the last of his guest, but not so. Beer almost disrupted the establishment several hours later when he returned and ordered oysters.

15 YEAR OLD GIRL RUNAWAY TELLS QUEER STORY

Picked Up in Dazed Condition Says She Was Struck

A 15-year-old girl giving the name of Betty Marsh, is lying in a bed at the Glendale Sanitarium today with both legs injured and will not tell where she lives other than in Los Angeles, or who her friends are, because she claims that she ran away from home when the people with whom she was living attempted to take a ring of her mother's, who is dead, away from her.

The girl was found Monday evening at 6:30 p. m. lying partially on the sidewalk and part in the street, at Colorado and Verdugo road. She was in a dazed condition. She was found by Arthur Rice and B. Rust who took her direct to the Glendale hospital and sanitarium. Doctors cannot tell how seriously she is injured. An X-ray picture has been taken which disclosed that the bones in neither leg have been broken. Another X-ray will be taken today to determine if she has suffered other injuries.

The girl has refused to tell hospital attaches or police anything about herself other than that she ran away from Los Angeles yesterday and walked to Glendale. She said that she was crossing the street at Colorado avenue and Verdugo road when something struck her. She is not sure, according to her story, just what it was that struck her, but thought it was a machine with the lights turned on. She told Chief of Police Martin that both of her parents are dead and that she has been living with friends. The reason that she gave for running away from them was that when her mother died the woman with whom she has been living and who cared for her mother during her illness took a ring that was the property of her mother and refused to give it to her saying that she was entitled to it for caring for the girl's mother, and that the ring was too nice for a little girl to wear.

The girl has the attitude of one who is attempting to shield someone else. At the slightest attempt to question her tears come to her eyes and she says, "I don't want to tell you. What would be the use?"

POSTAL EMPLOYEES TO GET TOGETHER

Postal employees of the Glendale postoffice will hold a get-acquainted banquet at the chamber of commerce in the assembly hall Thursday night. The banquet will give the new employees transferred to Glendale from other offices an opportunity to get acquainted with their fellow workers and with the postmaster, D. Ripley Jackson, who will be toastmaster and master of ceremonies at the dinner.

The employees of the Glendale postoffice are more of a large family than a group of workers and this banquet is intended to draw them closer together. It is this spirit of friendliness and willingness to co-operate that is making the service of the post office a subject of commendation from high officials in the service.

ANDY SMITH ON RULES

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 7.—Andy Smith, University of California coach, has been named a member of the intercollegiate rules committee for the coming year, according to a recent announcement. Andy is popular in all Pacific coast sporting circles, and his appointment has been favorably commented on by all Pacific coast colleges.

FORTIFICATION STOPPED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Harding today ordered an immediate suspension of all construction work on Pacific ocean fortifications.

MOST BEAUTIFUL RUSSIAN REFUGEE LONDON

Mme. Kousnersoff, one of the many titled Russian refugees in London, is reputed to be the most beautiful of the refugees now residing at the English capital.

Unseen Motivation

When Cicero first conducted his sandals into the precincts of the Forum at Athens, Greece, for his first speech to the citizens there assembled, it is very probable that his first thought was:

"What's the use of having a forum, anyway? Can't I do all the talking for this city on the corner of the street? Why all these offices and employes and other orators? Am I not the whole Roqueroft, and don't I know it?"

The Forum of Greece, the first Chamber of Commerce to put its town across, was at that time promulgating the idea that to trade in Athens was to pretend to civilization that raised the citizens of other cities to a height of refinement they could not otherwise demonstrate. But the Chamber of Commerce of Athens never sold a dollar's worth of goods. Its job was distinctively its city and its people. The effect of its work still exists.

And the observations of the short-sighted ones of those days are the observations of certain citizens of Glendale who complain the Chamber of Commerce costs money to keep up. That it of itself does nothing productive—thinking in terms of trade, barter and sale—cash coin. That it always takes credit for anything done in town. All of which has been said about forums, chambers of commerce, boards of trade, commercial alliances of every sort, since men discovered that they cannot of themselves enlist sufficient support for their beneficiary community ideas, without giving up all idea of spending time at their own personal affairs.

The modern conception of a chamber of commerce is like unto the ancient tradition of a newspaper. It is an organized institution through which the higher aspirations of a community may pass on their way to constructive realization. It takes a little of this man's time, a little of that man's and some of a third's to put them into a mould, committee, to attend to something which, through an audience in its auditorium has been found good and needed for the benefit of all.

It is the adjunct of good newspapers in that it stands on guard over the public pulse and signals to the newspapers the agitation of the popular mind. As such it has access to good newspaper columns impossible to an individual citizen with a grouchy or a good idea. It is a clearing of public spirit for newspapers as well as for the community welfare.

A chamber of commerce which puts things through of itself may be an evil or a good institution. A chamber of commerce through which things are put over is ever a beneficial, if colorless, machine of progress. When a chamber of commerce appears to be doing least, it is often doing most. And always a chamber of commerce like that in Glendale welcomes constructive criticism and advice.

President Roosevelt did not personally build the Panama Canal. Neither did General Goethals. Neither did a thousand men who labored on it. It was the propaganda of the chambers of commerce, boards of trade and kindred organizations of California and the coast, New Orleans, New York, Boston and Philadelphia generally that spent thousands of dollars, years of the time of members, urging on the east, congress and every one the advantage to all the United States of the canal. As they were urging their hardest, spending greatest and hoping mightily, there were always citizens of those cities who resented it all as a waste of cash, time and ambition, better turned to securing one little factory in the home town.

In Glendale there is a thoughtless word of mouth man to man, heedless criticism of men and affairs which is not healthy for the community. It arises from half knowledge, lack of knowledge and a curious destructive habit of thought similar to the youthful habit of biting finger nails until they hurt.

Fortunately the habit is not strong. It is not encouraged generally. It isolates the individual. But it is catching. If left to itself it would gnaw and gnaw, just as the small boy gnaws his finger nails, until there is no gnaw left.

The Glendale Press suggests that those addicted to the habit stop biting their mental finger nails, use their fingers for their natural function, which is to join hands for the great prosperity and future of the glowingly healthy city of Glendale.

And don't disengage—even to scratch. And don't stand in the way of progress. Move with us all.

And don't disengage—even to knock. And don't stand in the way of progress. Move with us all.

FUTURISM IS VANISHING SAYS PROF. NEUHAUS

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 7.—"I don't believe futurism has a future. Ten years from now nobody will ever hear of it."

This is the opinion of Professor Eugene Neuhaus, of the art department of the University of California.

"Futurism is not a phase of art, but is really the work of unskilled artists," said Professor Neuhaus.

"Even the famous group of seven that met in Paris to solidify their faith in the new idea has disbanded. Their work was small, although it appeared greater than it actually was because it was exploited by the press."

"Futurism largely attained notoriety because of the 'Nude Descending the Staircase' painting, which was exhibited at the fair in 1915."

"It could be exhibited in any society, no matter how prudish, because nobody could find the nude. In reality, the painting appeared to be more like what someone termed it—an explosion in a shingle factory."

STRAW BALLOTS ON BUS LINE ARE CALLED FOR

Officials Will Again Appeal for Permit at Los Angeles

Officials of the city of Glendale will visit the board of public utilities today or tomorrow and make formal application for a permit to operate a municipal bus line between this city and Los Angeles. This was decided at a meeting of the city council last night when C. D. Gulick, consulting traffic expert of the city of Glendale, read his report as to the cost and practicability of operating such a line. A depot site has already been located by the city and if the permit is granted an option on this site will be secured at once.

The establishment of such a line will require the voting of a bond issue in Glendale to cover the cost of equipment of the line. An estimate has been furnished by Mr. Gulick, and the amount of the bond issue, $125,000 or less, is tentatively based on this report.

Mr. Gulick estimates that the line can be installed for not more than $100,000, but it has been suggested that the bond issue be made to read for $125,000 or less.

City officials plan to have a straw vote by the people of Glendale to determine whether or not they want such a bus line. Ballots on this question will appear in later editions of this paper and Mr. Gulick requests that these ballots be marked and mailed in to the city hall not later than Saturday noon. The ballots will be counted and the result of the straw vote announced Monday.

TRACTOR PRICE WAR PROCLAIMED

International Chief Drives Into Battle With Henry Ford

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Harold F. McCormick has abandoned pursuits of art, grand opera and globe-trotting to direct the price war of the International Harvester company with the Ford concern on tractors.

Ford, who started the price slashing with a cut of almost 50 per cent in the price of tractors, has been followed by the harvester company, the J. I. Case Plow works and the Sampson tractors, controlled by General Motors.

McCormick has taken up his residence in Chicago and plans to remain here for some time directing the affairs of his company.

The harvester company, in addition to cutting prices, is giving plows and other machinery away with purchases of tractors, while other concerns are offering similar bonuses. McCormick today refused to outline further his plans for the campaign against Ford.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 7.—Tractor manufacturers, here for the National Tractor and Power Farming Exposition, found their business completely upset by the tractor price war.

None of the companies exhibiting at the show have cut prices but they have found their business seriously affected by the war now in progress among the four largest manufacturers of tractors.

"I do not believe that price cutting is going to do them any good," said G. L. Gillette, president of the Twin City company, closely allied with the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery Company.

WEATHER

Southern California: Tonight and Wednesday, rain.

MORE COLLEGE PROFESSIONALISM

MARION, Ind., Feb. 7.—Six Purdue football men today faced charges of professionalism. It is claimed that they played with the Marion team against Gas City here last Thanksgiving day. The Purdue players alleged to be "tainted" are Macklin, Meeker, Birk, Carmen, Williams and Webber.

TREATIES BEFORE STEERING COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A conference of the steering committee of the senate and house to determine when the arms conference treaties shall be brought up for ratification in the senate will be held at a White House dinner tonight.

The soldier bonus also may be discussed.

TOM GIBBONS CHALLENGES WORLD

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Tom Gibbons, St. Paul high school wrestler, who has won by a knockout in 20 of his last 22 bouts, is ready now for anyone. Eddie Kane, his manager, said today that he would talk business with any heavyweight in the country. He wants Bill Brennan, Gene Tunney, Harry Greb, Bob Roper or any opponent suggested by any promoter.

ZBYSKO RETAINS TON CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Stanislaus Zbyszko retained his title as heavyweight wrestling champion last night by scoring two out of three falls with Earl Caddock, former soldier champion. Zbyszko scored the first fall in 25 minutes and the third in 10 minutes and 20 seconds, both being rolling falls. Caddock took the second fall in 10 minutes and 30 seconds when he pinned the Pole's shoulders to the mat with a croch hold.

SUSPECTED BOMB HELD MORPHINE

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—An oblong metal box believed at first to be a bomb, today was found to contain $5,000 worth of morphine. The box had been left with the clerk of a South Broadway hotel here. Fearing it was a bomb, the clerk notified the police. Detectives Nickens and Adams of the flying squadron responded. An analysis conducted at the receiving hospital by police surgeons proved it to be morphine. The narcotic squad is investigating.

SEPTEMBER MORN'S SUCCESSOR ON VIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—September Morn threw a "natural" a few years ago and got away with it as a work of art. But officials of the National Art club here today aren't so sure that George W. Bellows will get away with a semi-September Morn painting he submitted to the club's annual exhibit—Bellows threw a shawl around September's shoulders. "Nude girl with a shawl" is a front view of a girl, nude from the waist up, and her clothes start on the edge of her shoulders. "Or her shoulders start beneath the edges of the shawl," commented an unfavorable critic today.

To determine for themselves just where refinement in nudity ceases and where immorality starts, a score of women from the Pen and Brush club rushed over to the Arts club to view Bellows' work. Many unkind comments are reported. "It's a dare," one member of the inspecting party declared. "The artist submitted that picture to get notoriety."

PLAN FIRE HOUSE

Fire Chief Lankford presented the city council at their meeting last night with a new set of plans for the bungalow fire house planned for the corner of Sixth and Grand View avenues. A fire house at this location has long been planned by the city administration but until recently this plan was only a dream. A site has been offered to the city and it is possible that in the near future work on the new fire house will be started.

HUGE GAIN SHOWN IN SCHOOLS

3245 Pupils Register in All Grades for the Coming Year

GROWTH SHOWS 717

City Shows Heaviest Increase

The registration at city schools on Monday, the opening day, as revealed by the figures turned in by the various principals to Superintendent Richardson D. White, reveal another big increase in attendance.

Last year's total for the grades February 1 was 2345, which with 183 kindergartners added made a grand total of 2528. This year's figures for the corresponding date are 3007 for grades and 238 for kindergartners, making a total of 3245, or 717 more than a year ago.

There has been a heavy gain in the northwest, as shown by the increase at Central avenue and Columbus schools. Broadway and Doran returns also show substantial gains in that expanding territory. Registration in detail follows:

Schools	Grades	Kindergarten	Total
Magnolia	30	30	30
Colorado	273	26	299
Acacia	338	56	394
Columbus	339	33	372
Pacific	333	38	371
Doran	204	19	223
Broadway	350	37	387
Cerritos	435	33	468
Central	300	29	329

	3007	238	3245

450 ATTEND ELKS RULERS' NIGHT

Past Chiefs Find Themselves Rusty in the Ritual

Attendance at the Elks' lodge Monday evening was large, no less than 450, and it proved a jolly meeting. The first meeting in February is designated as Past Exalted Rulers' night when the members who have filled the highest office in the gift of the lodge are called upon to fill all the stations. They have naturally become rusty in the work and are subjected to much good natured chaffing.

An excellent entertainment in charge of Miss Helen McIntosh of Hollywood followed the regular session and the usual refreshments were served in the banquet hall.

Nominations for officers for the coming year are in order at the first three meetings in February and several were made at this meeting. The election will be held the first meeting in February.

NEW POPE BLESSES AMERICAN PEOPLE

RADIO MAY SERVE IN NEXT STATE CAMPAIGN

With Instrument Campaigners Reach Far Localities

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—"Autre temps, autre mœurs!" The latest wrinkle in political campaigning has been introduced in New Jersey by State Senator William N. Runyon, candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. By using the radiophone, he made a 10,000 word speech which was heard by audiences at half a hundred points in the state.

Local politicians are interested in the possibility of the future introduction, of such a campaign in California. California is known as one of the strongholds of the old flag-waving, hand-in-the-vest type of oratory—the baby-sitting, state fair, and swing-around the state kind, where the candidate for state office makes it a point to have about one grandiloquent speech, and to visit as many cities and rural points as possible and deliver it.

This school of campaigning was firmly fixed by Senator Johnson, who first adapted the radiophone to the political campaign.

The people, the politicians point out, have become used to having a look at the candidate. They don't care so much what he says—and he usually doesn't say much—but they like to be paid the compliment of having the man who is running for senator or governor pay a personal visit to Podunkville, and have him slap the local politicians and the postmaster on the back and call him "Joe"—just as if he knew him, or could recall his face if he met him again.

Hence the politicians are doubtful that the radiophone would do for California. They think there are the distances to be considered. California could not easily be "radiophoned."

Furthermore, the politicians point out, there are an unusual number of newspapers in the state, and it is possible for the public to keep informed as to what a candidate is saying through the press. Hence the radiophone would mean only duplication. The essential thing, they say, is personal contact.

Advocates of the news system state, however, that the touring candidate usually only gets a chance to address those people in a locality who would vote for him anyway. Not many Republicans go to hear a Democrat speak, and vice versa.

The radiophone might be made to reach audiences at various supposedly non-political gatherings who could not be got together to hear the candidate if he appeared in person.

It might also be possible to get mixed audiences—somewhat in the form of the old-fashioned debate—and to have both candidates deliver speeches over the radiophone. Modern candidates hate mightily to face their opponents on the platform, and to argue the issues before the public. They prefer to swat each other from safe distances.

In this manner they can remain silent on various subjects which might be embarrassing without attracting much attention to their failure to answer an opponent's argument.

But the radiophone would answer this purpose. It would not be necessary for the candidates to debate. Both could merely deliver radiophone speeches on whatever topics they cared to discuss.

MINNESOTANS ARE CALLED TO FROLIC

The Minnesotans are among the most loyal to the memory of the old home state and their picnic reunions are jolly affairs. The next will be held in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles, all day, Saturday, February 18th, 1922. Remember the date.

It is held the Third Saturday of February each year. There will be county registers and headquarters, silk souvenir badges, coffee and popular program of songs and addresses. Talk, write, phone to C. H. Parsons, 10261, Secretary, Federation of State Societies, Continental National Bank, 9th and Main. The February indoor social, the 10th, Music Art Hall, 233 South Broadway.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantage of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small stand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

OWNER AND WORKERS CONFER IN GOLDEN RULE FACTORY

Arthur Nash, head of a clothing manufacturing concern in Cincinnati, has applied the Golden Rule to his factory. All employees are shareholders. They have a voice in the operation of the plant, vote to raise or decrease wages as business conditions demand, and in general have as much to say regarding the management as Nash himself. He confers constantly with representatives of the employees and thus is better able to judge the needs of his co-workers. There are 600 women workers and special attention is given to their quarters and working conditions.

TAG DAY NETS CHILDREN $101.64

Home for Crippled Little Ones in Glendale Is Aided

Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge, who was chairman of the local committee which superintended a tag day Saturday for the benefit of the California Home for Crippled Children, reports 800 tags sold and a net return of $101.64.

Those who worked in the sale were Lucy Strother, Jane Frick, Ralph Van Hoorbeke, Walter Roberts, and Edward Stockbridge, who gave the whole day, Eleanor Sawyer and Bettie Fell, who worked in the morning, and Harold Haycock, who worked in the afternoon. Mrs. E. V. Bacon, who expected to help, was confined to her home by severe burns.

Ellis Gray allowed their office to be used for headquarters, where a picnic lunch was served to the workers. Mrs. Stockbridge wishes to thank all the workers and all who contributed in any way to the effort for this worthy charity.

AMERICAN FIRM ENTERS RUSSIA

By EDWIN W. HULLINGER MOSCOW (By Mail to United Press), Feb. 7.—The first American firm, and at the same time the first foreign firm, actually to begin business in Moscow opened its offices here recently.

The firm was the Allied Drug and Chemical Company of New York, which recently secured a concession from the Soviet government to operate the famous asbestos beds of the Ural mountains, covering an area of 50,000 square "desati" (about 150,000 square acres).

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart and daughter, Betty Jane, of 346 West Doran street, accompanied by Mrs. Arzella Stewart, Mrs. Louise Stocker and children, Maurice and Wilbur Bettis, and Miss Lea Stewart of Pasadena, all took a very pleasant trip to Catalina on Sunday.

JAPANESE FRIENDS ATTEND MEETING

The meeting of the Japanese-American Friendly society held Saturday night at the Tropico Presbyterian church drew an audience of about 100, the Japanese being in the majority.

Prof. Ennui of the University of California, Southern Branch, who also teaches in Occidental college, was the chief speaker of the evening and reviewed the history of Japan since it emerged from its isolation in 1854. He spoke in English and his exposition of the reactions of Japan from its treatment by the different powers was interesting and enlightening. He referred to recent events at the Washington conference and seemed optimistic concerning future relations between the United States and Japan.

A Japanese clergyman from Pasadena gave a brief talk on the difficulties encountered by Japanese who study English and Americans who attempt the Japanese tongue. An address in Japanese was made by a Los Angeles clergyman and there were several musical numbers. Two piano solos were played by Japanese maidens from Los Angeles, a vocal quartette number was sung by Messrs. and Mesdames B. D. Jones and John Cotton. Mr. and Mrs. Cotton sang in duet and Mrs. Jones recited.

Refreshments were served by American members of the society from the various churches of Glendale.

MARE ISLAND ACTIVITIES VALLEJO, CAL. Feb. 7.—

Mare Island is now the construction center for all propellers for battleships, destroyers and other vessels of the U. S. Navy.

All propellers were heretofore manufactured at the Philadelphia navy yard, and shipped to east and west coast points.

Discover propellers only have been manufactured at Mare Island although repairs have been made to all sorts of propellers.

It costs approximately $5,000 each to manufacture propellers, and $1,000 to repair them. Thus the new navy order will mean considerable business for Mare Island.

Sublimation

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc. (Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.) Inquiries have come to me concerning the meaning of the psychological term "sublimation," now being widely used by lay writers as well as by psychologists. And certainly it is a term the meaning of which should be generally understood, for it is of much practical significance.

The life of every individual is motivated by a number of instincts—the acquisitive instinct, the self-assertive instinct, the reproductive instinct, and so forth. These imperatively crave expression, and unless they do gain adequate expression cause a psychic stress and conflict made manifest in sundry unpleasant ways.

Frustration of the self-assertive instinct, for example, may lead in one case to criminal behavior, in another to a nervous breakdown. At the bottom of all functional nervous troubles, according to many medical psychologists, is instinctual frustration of some sort.

On the other hand, the requirements of society are such that much harm would result if the individual members of society were permitted to give unrestrained expression to their instinctive cravings. Civilization would vanish, there could be no well-ordered society of any sort, the world would be a chaos of brutishness.

Consequently instinctual frustration is to a certain extent an absolute necessity. Instinctual frustration also may result, and frequently does result, from wholly accidental circumstances, as when the reproductive instinct is frustrated through failure to marry or through a childless marriage.

Fortunately it is entirely possible to compensate for such frustration by directing to socially useful ends the energy associated with the instinct that happens to be frustrated. "Sublimation" is the term applied to this compensatory action. Or, to define it in the words of one medico-psychological writer, Dr. I. H. Coriat:

"Sublimation is the capacity for replacement or exchange of the original aim for a secondary social, religious, scientific or artistic aim. It is really a transference of basic instincts to other instincts."

The woman denied motherhood—hence frustrated as regards the reproductive instinct—may take to drugs, or may suffer from a nervous breakdown. But also she may avoid all evils such as these, if she has been properly trained for sublimation and can gain compensatory expression by socially creative work—in art, literature, charitable activities, etc.

So, too, many a man obliged by chance happenings or the requirements of society to repress some dominant instinctive craving successfully sublimates by throwing himself with added enthusiasm into his work. The energy which would otherwise be "short circuited" to his great hurt, is thus utilized for his good and for the good of his fellow men.

To be able to sublimate well is, consequently, a power greatly to be desired. As justly remarked by Dr. Abraham Myerson, in his new book "The Foundations of Personality":

"Sublimation is the mark of the personality that will not admit defeat even to itself. The one who does admit defeat becomes resigned or seeks illicit compensation."

Obviously, then, training for character building is essentially training for sublimation. And parents and educators mark this closely—such training cannot be begun too soon. For the observations of all medical psychologists go to show that the need for sublimation begins early in life.

PAUL'S EPISTLE TO PHILIPPIANS

Topic to Form Presbyterian Sunday Study in February

At the Presbyterian church Sunday morning the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds said in part:

During February we will take up Paul's epistle to the Philippians. Read it through and through. Philippi was a little city over in Greece important as a garrison of the great Roman over-lords, and forever famous as the place where the first church in Europe was organized by Paul.

Paul's epistles written later from prison, including this one, contains truths not before expressed. The key-thought of Philippians is The joy of the redeemed through the humiliation of the Redeemer. The wonderful keyverse is: "For me to live is Christ. It is the epistle of joy. In the opening verses of the fourth chapter are the choicest ingredients of the fruit of the Spirit—love, joy, peace and sweetness. Here is Paul's love to his dear friends, 'longed for, my joy and crown.' Here is his plea that two good but disagreeing women shall 'be of the same mind in the Lord.'"

Now he comes to the first fruit: "Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, rejoice." We may not always rejoice in circumstances, feelings, or even friends; but always we can rejoice in the Lord. Probably among us are some very heavy experiences this week; nevertheless all things work together for good and we are to glory in tribulation also. There never has been an ideal Christian in the world—not one has ever lived.

Along with joy Paul speaks with "moderation," meaning a temperate spirit, yielding, gentle, sweet. Some people exhibit such on special occasions like a beautiful garment. But show it forth in ordinary places, and show it to your enemies. Now he goes on to "peace." The most wonderful legacy, "My peace I leave with you." Mind, not peace with God; that was settled on the cross once and forever. The peace of Christ comes into the within life, where no storm can touch, and passeth an understanding. "Be careful for nothing," quit your worrying; commit what may be troubling you to God. And peace will help you in your prayer life; "in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God."

Now the great closing, like the great climax of an anthem—"The peace of God shall keep your hearts and minds." Strangely this "keep" is a military word; it means to garrison. Those people of Philippi knew the power and safety in a Roman garrison. This peace of God is a garrison containing food, supplies, safety, everything.

GRAND RAPIDS MEN JOIN INTERESTS

The partnership of Wernette & Sawyer, real estate and insurance agents of 116 West Wilson street, is not a happening. The partners in this firm were formerly neighbors in Grand Rapids, Mich. They lived next door to each other and while there grew to know each other very intimately. One day Mr. Wernette "pulled stakes" and headed Californiaward. He and his family made the trip across country by auto, sleeping under the blue sky—to the accompaniment of coyote yells.

Soon after landing here Mr. Wernette wrote back to friend Sawyer, telling him of the wonderful climate and other things he had discovered. At first Mr. Sawyer hesitated and then, willing to take a chance, came west. He's been here ever since and the chances that he will ever go back to the frozen east are mighty slim.

The friendship between these two men naturally developed into a real estate partnership. They opened an office several months ago and are now "right in the thick of it."

Eagle Rock

MRS. HAMER SURPRISED Mrs. A. C. Hamer of 234 North Kenilworth avenue, was given a happy surprise on Thursday, when she found all the members of last year's twelfth century club, of which she was the leader, and she was placed, as guest of honor, at the head of a table beautifully decorated in pink, in the center of which was a large basket covered with pink crepe paper and filled with dainty white packages, to each of which a long pink ribbon was attached, leading to her plate. Plainly it was a stork shower, delightful to all participants, and the luncheon provided by the hostess, in its cooking and serving, was an epicurean feast.

Those who were privileged to enjoy the event were Mesdames: A. C. Hamer, P. H. Ducker, E. Morgan Isaac, P. H. Blumer, G. W. Sautter, M. Beane, W. E. Sexton, Harry Phinney, A. Putnam, Mabel York, A. R. Rose, C. S. Ellis and Mrs. Miner of Cleveland, Ohio, the mother of Mrs. Hamer, who gave her another surprise that day by unexpectedly appearing in her home for a long visit.

DRENBURG TO REMAIN

Residents of the east end of Eagle Rock city will no longer watch for the little mail cart of J. H. Drenberg, the oldest mail carrier in point of service in the city, to appear, but they are glad to know that the original plan to remove him to Los Angeles has been changed and he has been assigned to the central route in Eagle Rock. After a postoffice and increased working force was allowed the city, the government decided not to assist in maintaining the horse and cart service and Mr. Drenberg felt that the route he had covered so many years was too long and difficult with his many hills for him to cover in his rather delicate health. Hence he applied for a change. The new carrier at the east end, James Frazier, who lives just over the line in Los Angeles, is a sturdy young man of pleasant manners who gets around promptly on foot and is winning the good will of the residents.

GOEDEKER OPENS SHOP

G. W. Goedecker, who formerly conducted the clothing and repairing tailor shop, now owned by Mr. Zettas, on Colorado boulevard near Central avenue, and who returned to Eagle Rock a short time ago and assisted Mr. Zettas, moved this week into the shop at 115 Townsend avenue, where he will do all kinds of expert tailor work, dry cleaning, etc. This will be a great convenience for the east end.

CHAFFEE'S NEW STORE

Before any interior work was done on the stores being erected by the J. B. Brown company for W. G. Hill, at 214-16 East Colorado boulevard, one of the stores was leased to the Hancock Music company of Pasadena. Now the other has been secured by the big coffee firm of H. G. Chaffee company, for a link in its chain of stores. It will be remembered that the coffee handled by this firm was served gratis at the bazaar given in December by the Women's Twentieth Century club, and met with much favor.

WARREN SELLS LOT

H. G. Warren has sold the lot adjoining his real estate office on South Central avenue to J. A. Mansergh, who comes to Eagle Rock from Duluth, Minn., and will have a brick building constructed on the lot, which will house a hardware store, the second one in the community. He will also handle building material.

NEW PLUMBER IN TOWN

Sill another plumbing shop has been opened in Eagle Rock. The latest is at 107 South Central avenue, and is in charge of J. H. Beuney and E. J. Linsley, both experienced men. This is the fifth or sixth shop of the kind in the city. Three years ago there was only one—that of F. S. Hannaford.

MRS. BOND RETIRES FROM BUSINESS

BUHANK, Feb. 7.—Mrs. H. C. Bond will soon give up her real estate and dressmaking office on the boulevard. At her home at 353 Verdugo avenue she will open a children's nursery and care for tots of all ages up to ten years—pretty and homely, good natured and quick tempered, blonds and brunettes, curly haired and straight locks, she will mother all of them. Mrs. Bond has a nice playground provided with swings, bars and other devices conducive to the health and pleasure of youngsters. She also has in view the services of an assistant who has been a school teacher and is an excellent manager for children.

SPRING GARDENING TIME

"Now is the time to do your spring gardening," said the proprietor of the Builders' Hardware and Supply company, 633 East Broadway, this morning. "The weather is ideal for the planting of trees, flowers and various kinds of shrubbery around the home, and the fellow who thinks anything of the appearance of his property will lose no chance to improve its appearance with flowers and greenery. A few dollars spent in tools, seeds, plants, trees, etc., along with a little of the 'armstrong stuff,' will convert a shack into a mansion, and make it a place to which the tired workman really wants to go when the toil of the day is ended."

CITY COUNCIL INVITED

The management of the Ralphs store, recently opened in Glendale, sent an invitation to the city manager, the mayor and the city council of Glendale asking them to attend the formal opening of the Glendale branch of their store. This opening is being held all day today and the city officials plan to attend in a body.

CENTRAL P. T. A. TO MARK BIRTHDAY

The Central Avenue Parent-Teacher association, which held its first organization meeting February 9, 1914, will celebrate that anniversary at its meeting Thursday afternoon at 3:15 with a birthday party.

Mrs. A. A. Barton, speaker of the afternoon will give a talk on the reading circle. All members and new mothers are urged to attend and participate in celebration, the officers stating that a pleasant surprise awaits them.

An important session of the executive board will be held before the regular meeting at 2:30.

MT. TAMALPAIS IS MOVING DAILY

BERKELEY, Cal., Feb. 7.—Mount Tamalpais, across the Golden Gate from San Francisco, in Marin county, is a "hobo," according to scientists, who are now asking that the U. S. government put some scientific cops on the job to watch it "keep moving."

According to scientists, Mount Tamalpais is not satisfied with its present location. It is slowly but surely working its way northward. During the past 40 years, the mountain has moved six feet— which Mohammed would probably consider a personal dispensation were he in much favor around the bay. Not only that, but Tamalpais is taking the east bay and San Francisco districts along with it, according to scientists. Nobody has ever seen the vagrant peak actually move. But from year to year scientists find that it has made some progress in its chosen direction.

Hence the said scientists, headed by Professor Andrew C. Lawson, of the geology department of the University of California, are asking the U. S. Geologic survey to send some scientific cops to guard the peak, and ascertain just how and when it moves, and at what rate of speed it is travelling.

PROHIBITION WORK PLANNED FOR 1922

CLEVELAND, Feb. 7.—Six direct benefits of prohibition were outlined here in the annual report of George C. Southwell, secretary of the Dry Maintenance League. They are:

1. Deaths from alcoholism have decreased.
2. Many workhouses and jails have been closed.
3. Drunkenness has decreased.
4. Condition of children has bettered, and there are fewer cases of cruelty. Children are better clothed and better fed.
5. Annual increase in insanity has been checked, and the scale turned downward.
6. Increases in bank and savings deposits were largest in years.

The program for the league in 1922, Southwell declared, includes the following:

1. Enlargement of the membership.
2. Close co-operation with enforcement officers.
3. Censure of hopeless and lax officials.
4. Promotion of education.
5. Improvement of enforcement legislation.
6. Fight to secure dry adherents in congress and the senate.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR MEET

Commander George U. Moyse was not able to be present at the stated meeting of Glendale Commandery, Knights Templar, Monday and Captain General Hogue presided in his stead.

Some action was taken in regard to the triennial convocation of the United States which will be held the last of April in New Orleans. Plans were discussed for financing the trip of delegates who will be sent but the number of representatives has not yet been determined.

The Commandery will meet for a supper at 8 o'clock in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple next Monday night, followed by an evening session at which regular work of the order will be followed.

CAR THIEVING IS MADE EASY BY MANY OWNERS

Keys in Locks—Warning Signals Unused—Give Chances

Auto thieves are of the opinion that many automobile owners enjoy having their cars stolen. They also believe that many motorists aid in the theft of their own cars!

This startling information has been secured by the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California from scores of professional auto thieves who have been captured by the club between the Mexican boundary and San Luis Obispo county.

"Motorists make it easy for us thieves," is the way the thieves themselves put it when questioned by the authorities and the Auto Club is planning a strenuous campaign to educate auto owners in "how to make it hard for the auto thieves."

Keys left in the locks of parked cars, theft signals lying in rear seats, unused, and attempts made to investigate registration certificates or tampered motor numbers are some of the ams given thieves, as shown by the testimony taken in the county jails throughout the southern part of the state.

Unless automobile owners are deliberately playing into the hands of professional thief gangs in Southern California, they are warned by club officials to take ordinary precautions in safe-guarding their moveable property.

A careful check is to be made on certificates of registration, and it is probable that steps will be taken to tighten up on the issuing of motor licenses in states adjoining California on the north and east, according to the Auto Club, as many thieves use out-of-date licenses in stealing local cars.

EAST GLENDALEIANS FORGET MEETING

Members of the East Glendale Welfare association for the most part forgot that Monday evening was their regular meeting night, and so less than a quorum showed up at the Broadway school. Those who were present had an interesting informal discussion of high school matters and city interests generally, and had an early adjournment. The next meeting will be held at the Broadway school Monday evening, March 6.

KAISER TRYING AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—German monarchist plotters, including General Ludendorff, are working hand in glove with Russian royalists to restore kaiserdom in Germany and czarism in Russia, Ignatius Trebitsch, Lincoln, Hungarian-born international spy and plotter and one-time member of the British parliament, said here today. These plans are destined to succeed some day, and then, he added, Russia and Germany will join in a powerful union.

HASBEENS AT STANFORD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Feb. 7.—Stanford's annual old-timer baseball event will soon be staged here. Tom Workmen, former Cardinal Varsity star, is getting together a baseball team of alumni who will shortly play the renowned Cliff Ireland's Independents.

FORD'S OFFER IN COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Proponents of the Henry Ford offer to take over from the government the Muscle Shoals dam and nitrate plants won a point in the senate today when Ford's offer was referred to the agricultural committee over the objections of a number of senators.

DEFEND ARMY EXECUTIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Twenty-eight army officers and civilians today appeared before the senate investigating committee to defend the army against charges of illegal executions of American soldiers in France.

BURBANK ELECTION OF TRUSTEES SET

BURBANK, Feb. 6.—April 10 is election day. At that time four of the five members of the city board of trustees are to be elected. This is an unusual circumstance and is brought about through the recent resignation of two of the members.

The terms of W. A. Blanchard, who is president of the board, and H. W. Rouscup, expire normally at this time. Some weeks ago Thara C. Ostrander resigned and Orville Myers was appointed to take his place, and quite lately C. W. Anderson resigned and James C. Crawford was appointed to his position. As the two latter would have yet had two more years to serve, it means that two trustees will be elected for two years and two will be elected for four years, or the full term. Chas. E. Hams will be the only one of the five to hold over. The trustees will be elected at large.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN CELEBRATE FRIDAY

On Friday the Relief Corps and the G. A. R. will hold an all-day meeting at the G. A. R. hall for the purpose of celebrating both Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays. Doughnuts and coffee will be served at noon and Patriotic Instructor Mrs. Bowen is arranging for a fine program.

NAVAL OFFICER SHOTS WIFE

VALLEJO, Cal., Feb. 7.—William G. McClure, chief petty officer, U. S. N., was held by police here on duty pending the outcome of two gunshot wounds he is alleged to have inflicted upon his wife here last night. McClure, according to a statement police gave out, charged his wife had been intimate with another man.

TUJUNGA WIDOW LOCAL BOY SCOUTS BLESSES ELKS FOR PLAN CELEBRATION NEW HOME ON FEB. 8

38 Members Spend Sunday Building Her Shelter

Thirty-eight members of the Elks' lodge of Glendale, journeyed to Tujunga last Sunday morning and before returning in the evening had constructed a cozy little bungalow for a needy and deserving widow and her family. This little home was to have been erected the previous Sunday, but work was interrupted by the rain.

The workmen went to Tujunga in automobiles. Upon landing on the "job" they set right to work and almost before it was realized the frame was up. Step by step the work progressed, so that before leaving it was shingled, and stained, the partitions were placed and, with the exception of a few places of wall board, the little home was finished. Workmen living in Tujunga finished placing the beaver board Monday and yesterday and the little widow with her flock of six little ones took possession today.

All of the work was donated and the cost to the Elks' lodge for material was about $500. This work was done under the direction of the relief committee, of which Stanley S. Frenz is chairman.

Anniversary Day To Be Properly Noted in Verdugo District

More than two million boys have subscribed to the Scout oath and law and taken part in the Scout program of character building and citizenship training activities during the past twelve years. The extent of these individual efforts and advancement toward good citizenship, the daily good turns done by Scouts, the community good turns done by troops, the body and mind-building hikes and camps that have such a large place in the program, the state-wide services of Scouts in special emergencies and the nationwide voice of the Boy Scouts of America in connection with the war, constitute a chapter in our history and particularly in the history of the boyhood of America, that would have seemed a fairy tale, the unattainable vision of some dreamer, twelve years ago. Yet this week we celebrate the actual achievement of these things in the twelfth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Not even excepting the army and navy combined, the Boy Scouts of America is the largest uniformed organization in America. Twelve years ago the Boy Scouts of America was only an idea. Today there are 403,102 Scouts nationally registered as members. In addition there are 35,671 scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters. Besides these, there are more than 84,000 men serving voluntarily in other capacities—troop committeemen, members of local councils, commissioners, members of courts of honor. In addition to these there are between five and six hundred men giving full time professionally to the supervision and extension of the movement. And there are between six and seven hundred other men representing all parts of the United States, who serve the movement voluntarily as members of the national council—a total of approximately 523,000 men. This is the organization that is celebrating its twelfth anniversary week.

Nearly every community in the United States is represented. The Boy Scouts of America was incorporated February 8, 1910. The name, insignia and form of the movement are protected by a special charter of congress, granted June 15, 1916.

A goodly number of troops in the Verdugo hills district council are planning to have their own celebration of anniversary week. Next year it is the plan of the council to put over a well planned celebration to take in the whole district which includes Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock, Verdugo, Sunland, Montrose and La Crescenta. At the present time there are six troops distributed in Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock and it is hoped that at an early date troops can be organized in the other towns.

SHAKESPEARE SECTION HOLDS MEETING

The Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Halstead, 338 West Elk avenue. Sixteen members were present and the study of Richard III was begun.

Because of the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Needham, the secretary of the section, Mrs. Frank Ayars, resigned her office and Mrs. Eustace Young was chosen to serve in her stead.

Members were cheered to know that their curator, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, who has been ill, is much better, though not able to be with them.

Plans were discussed for the sections' open meeting which will be held February 20 at the home of Mrs. Bert Ward, 451 West Myrtle street. Plans were also discussed for the repetition of the scenes from "Midsummer Night's Dream," to be given by the section the evening of February 23 in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce. Mrs. Walter Jones is chairman of tickets.

Refreshments were served at the close of the study hour.

LITTLE FOLKS ARE LORRAINE'S GUESTS

A number of little folk enjoyed a pleasant afternoon Friday, February 3, when Lorraine Girard of 216 South Kenwood street entertained in honor of her sixth birthday. Games were played and prizes awarded. Helen Pease won first prize and Helen Heck was awarded consolation. Winnifred Walker won the first prize in the peanut hunt and Mary George won the consolation. After the games, dainty refreshments were served. Those who helped celebrate little Miss Girard's birthday were Helen and Lois Pease, Helen and Betty Heck, Maurine Burke, Winnifred Walker, Edith Goss, Mary George, Connor Cole, Bobby Allen, Sydney Dent, Margaret Gettis, Donald McKennon of Hollywood, Homer Girard and the little hostess.

C. E. STUDIES MANY MISSIONS

On Sunday night, the Christian Endeavor of the Tropico Presbyterian church was led by Frances Goldsborough and Margaret Richardson. It began earlier than usual because of the mission study class which was to follow. The program included a duet by Dorothy Thompson and Norma Wallace. The subject of study of the mission class is "World Friendship Incorporated," by Lovejoy. A pleasant surprise of the discussion concerning life and customs in the Orient was a spontaneous talk by a visitor, Ed Richardson, former resident of Glendale, who has been for a year and a half on the U. S. S. Albany on the coast of China. He is familiar with the points mentioned in the chapter read and gave some very interesting first-hand information.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

At a very enthusiastic and interesting meeting of the women's auxiliary of the American Legion, held Monday night, Mrs. Chalmers Day was elected president. Other officers elected are: Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward, vice-president; Mrs. L. T. Rowley, secretary; Mrs. W. B. Kelly, treasurer. The executive committee includes Mrs. James F. McBryde, chairman; Mrs. George E. Clayton, Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mrs. Vincent Salmacia and Mrs. Katherine B. Rowe.

A number of vital motions and suggestions were made and discussed. After the business session closed, Mrs. W. W. Warriner sang two solos, "Untill" and "He's Such a Little Feller," accompanied by Mrs. Day.

Regular meetings will be held every first and third Monday evenings in the month.

KING'S SONS AT MEETING

The King's Sons group of the H.Y. met Monday night at 7 o'clock. After a Bible study the business meeting was opened. It was planned that 5 cents be collected from each member in order to buy such baseball equipment as will be necessary in the organizing of a baseball team. A trip to Mine canyon was planned for next Saturday. A real good time in the snow is expected. The meeting adjourned to Mr. Cider's room where a short talk on the care of the teeth was enjoyed.

BENEFIT CARD PARTY SUCCEEDS

A benefit card party was given Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Stecher, 1305 South Glendale avenue, to raise money to buy quilts for the girls at El Retiro home at San Fernando. Misses Thompson and Wile won prizes in five hundred and Mrs. C. L. Peckham won the prize for bridge.

MISS MYERS GIVES LUNCHEON

Miss Ida Myers was a hostess at a luncheon within the week for four young ladies who at one time were members of a Sunday school class she taught at Immanuel Presbyterian church, Los Angeles. Guests entertained were Miss Helen Cull, Mrs. Bryson Knapp and Mrs. Robert McKenzie of Los Angeles, Mrs. C. N. Nascel of Claremont and Mrs. Selton Brown of Tustin.

THIMBLE CLUB HOLDS MEETING

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH CONCERT

Under the auspices of the Jackson Concert company, a recital and concert will be given at the First Methodist church Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The program will include organ and piano selections and vocal numbers.
MRS. KRETCHMER TO ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Edward Kretchmer and her daughter, Mrs. Thomas D. Watson, will entertain at luncheon Thursday about twenty old friends, former residents of Iowa, who are now living in Southern California, some of them in Glendale. Covers will be laid for about 20.

VON OVENS' NEW HOME READY

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Von Oven, who have been living at 1315 South Orange street, are hoping to move into their new home at 317 West Maple street next week. It will seem like going home to them because for many years they lived on Columbus near Maple and became so much attached to the neighborhood they have not been contented elsewhere.

Purely Personal

Mrs. C. M. Sparr of 234 South Jackson street has as her house guest Mrs. Bess Snyder of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Brown of Long Beach were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wimmer, 312 North Orange street.

Miss Jean Walton and Gerome Walton, her brother of Zelza, Cal., were week-end guests of Mrs. M. M. Snell, 116 East Eulalia street.

Alexander McDougall, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. McDougall of 128 West Elk avenue, is receiving medical care at the Glendale Research hospital for a fracture.

F. E. Simmons of Chicago, who has been spending two months with his father, W. W. Simmons, 538 East Windsor road, left Monday morning for the east. He likes California very much and hopes to some day make Glendale his home.

THE MASAKS ENTERTAIN FOREIGN VISITORS

Visitors from a distant country were entertained on Sunday in the home of Professor and Mrs. Wm. J. Masak, of 321 West Burchett street. The guests were Dr. and Mrs. Vladimir Maleev and their little children, Margaret and Leonidas, having come to the United States from Russia, where Dr. Maleev was a prominent educator. Their experiences after the advent of Bolshevism were similar to those of the majority of the intellectual class, and they decided to join the general exodus from Russia. For some time they have been living in Hollywood, and are greatly pleased with Southern California.

Purely Personal

C. W. Thatcher of Tujunga has been spending several days with relatives in Glendale.

Mrs. H. N. Cameron of 606 North Isabel street is ill at the Glendale Research hospital.

Earl D. Howard of Eagle Rock is receiving medical care at the Glendale Research hospital.

Clem Moore of 360 West California avenue has gone to Ventura on a business trip.

Miss Helena Richardson spent the week-end with a friend in Hyde Park, Calif.

Mrs. Nan Cornell, of Long Beach, is a house guest of Mrs. C. M. Donely, of 215 South Central avenue.

Donald Elliott, son of Mrs. B. M. Elliott, 539 East Elk avenue, is confined to his home on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Carmony have moved from 249 South Glendale avenue to their new home at 111 North Kenwood street.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Nelson and family have recently moved from 4036 Sequoia street, Los Angeles, to 425 West Harvard street.

Dr. and Mrs. Belyea have moved from 309 Pioneer drive to 920 South Central avenue, where Dr. Belyea will conduct his business.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurlbert Harrison of Hyde Park were guests on Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Storer, 1419 Gardens avenue.

Joe Donely, of Pacific Beach Army and Naval Academy, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. C. M. Donely, 215 South Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fairchild of 1036 Boynton street returned Monday night from a two-day motor trip to San Diego. The trip was one of business.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bentley and family have moved from 400 South Adams street to their recently completed home at 527 North Orange street.

Mrs. E. A. Straus and two sons of 1125 North Louise street, accompanied by Mrs. T. R. Yates and son, Richard, and daughter, Miss Isabel Yates, motored on Sunday to Mt. Wilson.

O. L. Zook of 633 North Howard street has moved his lumber business at Tujunga and will go into the real estate business here in Glendale.

Mrs. Forrest J. Rogers of 535 North Kenwood street, who was operated upon last week at the Glendale Research hospital, is going home today. She is getting along very nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer of 615 East Elk avenue expect to move into their new home at that address today. They have been living in the garage-house while they built their new home.

The South Glendale Improvement association will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the branch library building, corner Los Feliz road and Brand boulevard. This will be a special meeting.

Miss Ethel Land of 605 North Maryland avenue was the Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Osborne of 1044 South Manhattan place, Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne are former residents of Glendale.

Mrs. C. M. Sparr of 234 South Jackson street, accompanied by her house guest, Mrs. Bess Snyder of Chicago, Mrs. Stewart of Cleveland, Ohio, and her son, W. S. Sparr, will motor to Alamitos bay today to spend the day with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown of 406 North Maryland avenue, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. Stad, motored to Redlands on Sunday, where they attended a Christian Endeavor conference. On the way they passed miles and miles of frozen oranges.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weger, of 610 East Orange Grove avenue, had as their over Sunday guest, Miss Marguerite Myers, of Los Angeles, formerly of Wichita, Kansas. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Weger, and their son, Gerald, accompanied by their house guest, Miss Myers, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert McLain, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McLain, Anna Blanchard, motored to San Pedro. From there they went out to the U. S. S. Idaho, where they visited Miss Myers' brother, Chris Myers, who is a wireless operator on that ship. All of those in the party are former residents of Wichita, Kansas.

MORELAND STIRS BURBANK C. OF C. SEWAGE TALK

Suggests New Plan for Disposal and Rouses Opposition

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—A highly diverting and decidedly lively time was enjoyed by those who attended the Wednesday luncheon of the chamber of commerce. Walt L. Moreland succeeded admirably in "starting something," although, as he said later when taking the floor the second time, he had no thought of starting a serious controversy. He spoke on the sewer problem.

He said he had lately been traveling through the east where he had investigated sewer systems and that after doing so he had come to the conclusion that a system such as is contemplated by the city authorities, was not practical. He felt that money so spent would be thrown away; that as in other cities where similar plans of sewage disposal had been tried out, it would be found inefficient and impracticable. Briefly he outlined a plan he had in mind.

W. A. Blanchard, president of the city board of trustees, spoke quite strongly against the plan proposed by Mr. Moreland. He said that Burbank could not wait until Los Angeles should be ready to develop a great sewer system, which would empty into the ocean, and that the expense of building a plant such as the city proposes, would never be wasted and that the present project was practical and Burbank had better stick to it.

H. W. Rouscup, member of the city board of trustees, spoke briefly on this subject.

It was urged by Mr. Pomeroy whose property is near the site of the proposed sewer plant, that while the plant would be allowed to be built, it would not be allowed to be operated. Located on the bank of the Los Angeles river, he said he had occasion to know just how particularly the authorities of the city of Los Angeles were in the matter of water contamination because he and neighbors were not allowed to do certain things such as pasture stock at quite distant points where there was no possibility of pollution and no reason for objection except appearance.

Mr. Blanchard took the floor the second time as Mr. Pomeroy concluded his remarks, and he declared in no uncertain words that talk of polluting the big city's water and being stopped by that municipality was all bunk and that there was nothing to it. He asked what became of the sewage now and said that it seeped from the cesspools and eventually reached the big city's water supply, and that if it were treated as Burbank proposes to do, it would certainly be better for Los Angeles than under present conditions, for everyone knew the treating would do some good.

Mr. Rummel, a resident of the territory adjacent to the site of the proposed plant, and Mr. Jenkins, superintendent of Griffith park, were speakers who emphasized rather bitterly, their opposition to any action of the city of Burbank might taken in the matter, and intimated that they would fight the question to the end.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bentley and family have moved from 400 South Adams street to their recently completed home at 527 North Orange street.

Mrs. E. A. Straus and two sons of 1125 North Louise street, accompanied by Mrs. T. R. Yates and son, Richard, and daughter, Miss Isabel Yates, motored on Sunday to Mt. Wilson.

"A pall thick and heavy settled over our cottage. I tiptoed around the obsequies of the traitor and Kean's friends. There are times, you know! Thin and pathetic and hungry, John retired early that night. He didn't suppose, he said, that the doggedness of a man with the launch whom he had ordered on our arrival to come for him by any chance would be so week earlier. So, the stupid idiot, would stick to the letter of his bargain and not appear till he had promised to come! What a place, what a place! Two days later, when the Janson car again appeared. Mr. Janson tramped in happily with a bag of bass.

"John was a desperate and unscrupulous man. He had made no bones of it. He told Janson that if he didn't wait half an hour till we could get packed and up, and take us into the village, where we could catch a train back to civilization he wouldn't be responsible for the consequences—and came home. And fish has never graced our table since!"

"Well, as I was going to ask you two over to dinner tonight," said the bride, "it seems to me I'll have steak! Besides, I know how to cook that!"

S. P. OFFERS LAND ON EASY TERMS

The acreage of Southern Pacific Company lands in California suitable for agriculture or grazing is comparatively small and is offered to the public for reasonable prices, according to B. A. McAllister, Land Commissioner for the Company.

Mr. McAllister issued the following statement: "The amount of lands suitable for agricultural or grazing purposes is comparatively small, and is offered to the public at a very low price. A close examination of these prices will show that they compare most favorably with prices charged for surrounding lands. During the year ending with the 1938-39 season, the Government sold 48,849.17 acres of wooded over- and under-wooded lands to purchasers. Moreover, the land can be bought outright or on easy payments and the services of the Southern Pacific Company's farm agents are available to assist the purchasers of the land, so that practical assistance is given in the development and cultivation of the acreages sold. The lands can be purchased for as little as $100 per tract or under 13-year amortization contracts. Under the first contract a tenth of the purchase price is paid down, no payment except interest is required at the end of the first year, the payments being then completed in nine equal yearly installments. Under the 19-year contract 7½ per cent of the purchase price is paid down and a payment equal to 8.29 per cent of the purchase is paid annually thereafter. Six per cent interest is charged in both cases."

The railroads' troubles will be at an end if they can devise some plan by which they can simultaneously increase wages and reduce freight and passenger rates.

HOW HAM FISHED FOR THE SEALS

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"Those seals you were speaking of, doctor," spoke up Chips Beaver. "How did Mother Nature fix them? Very differently from the way I am?"

"Oh, yes, indeed. At least according to what I'm told," said Dr. Muskrat honestly. "I've never seen one. But Mahng the Loon said she made them as near as she could like the whale. He's the water-pattern she tried for an experiment the first time. She changed their forepaws into regular fish-fn flippers, and their hind legs into a pair of fish rudders so they could come. Because, you see, being bear folk they hadn't tail enough to work on. But she left them their claws, as a sign that they were land folks to begin with. So they have to come to land when their babies are born. And the little ones walk before they swim because that's the way it was lived in the First-of-Beginning. But Mahng says they walk like a fish would, if you can imagine it.

"Now, Mother Nature didn't make you beavers over at all. The first beaver was that poor little woodchucky beast with a squashed-up tail that was twice too big for him before the swelling went down him. The very one who was adrift on his oak-tree raft in the middle of the Big Flood when the seals came. And he made himself, with a little help from them."

"Where did they come from?" said Ripple Beaver. She'd never heard a word of this and she wasn't going to let the old doctor forget anything.

"From the Ark, of course. You see, Mister Noah called for every living thing," so, of course, they came, for they didn't know what might be going to happen. But they didn't like it a little bit. You see, Mister Noah tried to feed them grass, like their bear-folk cousins. But by that time the ark was so overrun with mice (my far-off relations, remember) that the bears could get a comfortable meal when Mister Noah and that bossy eldest son, Shem, weren't looking.

"But the poor seals didn't like mice, either. They wanted fish, and that's all they did want. So Ham, Mister Noah's second son, a great, big, gawky, black fellow, not nearly so smart as Japhet, the youngest boy, but mighty soft-hearted and well-meaning, he fixed himself a fish line out of horse hair and a hook of a claw he stole

BURBANK BANK TAKES PRECAUTION

BURBANK, Feb. 6.—Keeping even pace with the rest of Burbank, the First National bank is making improvements. This time it is especially to safeguard the from the paw of the littlest bear, while she was asleep, sucking the other one, and baited it with one of those big black water bugs running around—cause there was a whole lot more than two of them—and went to fishing."

NEXT STORY: HOW THE SEALS FISHED FOR HAM.

property of the depositors of the safety deposit vault, for a wonderful new door has been put in place. This door weighs three and a half tons and is provided with a triple time lock. It is a three inch door having solid steel of that thickness. The same doors are being placed in the company's other two banks, at Pasadena and Highland Park.

Another improvement is the new counter which is being built for the collection department, which D. S. Preston, assistant cashier, will be in charge. These counters will be finished in Mahogany to conform to the other interior work. At the last meeting of the bank officials and directors, Mr. Preston and G. H. Green were elected to the position of assistant cashiers.

S. P. IMPROVES BURBANK DEPOT

BURBANK, Feb. 6.—Improvements at the Southern Pacific depot are in line for the near future. The warehouse and platform space are to be increased, probably about doubled. Authority for this work has been given and it will be commenced as soon as the department in charge of such changes can get around to this place.

The depot force has also been augmented by the employment of Martin Dellworth of Los Angeles who is warehouse man and clerk.

NEW FACTORY AT BURBANK

BURBANK, Feb. 6.—The industrial section of the city below the boulevard is developing by the well-known "leaps and bounds." One of the latest improvements is the large building being constructed by Harry Comber for use by DeMoss & Hollomon. It will be joined in the rear to the building now owned by Comber and occupied by DeMoss & Hollomon, and will front on First street, thus forming an L to the building which now fronts on Orange Grove. The new structure will be the same size as the present one, 50 by 100, and of the same construction, corrugated iron and cement floor. Work is already underway and will be completed about March 1.

Truths in Epigram

You were made for enjoyment, and the world was filled with things which you will enjoy, unless you are too proud to be pleased with them, or too grasping to care for what you can not turn to other account than a mere delight. — Ruskin (1819-1900).

Genius does what it must, talent does what it can. — Lytton (1831-1891).

McADOO AND THE RAILROADS

Mr. McAdoo declares that the government saved the railway systems. He resents the charge that the lines were ruined under his management. Certainly a very natural position for the gentleman to assume. Nor would it be fair to declare him wholly in error.

The people of this country do not desire to have the government own the railroads. They much prefer that the various transportation concerns function as private institutions, and they believe that this is not only possible, but wise. Yet there is a considerable element favoring government ownership. This element does not concede that government ownership has had a fair trial. It is not beyond belief that such a trial may be forced. Much will depend upon the manner in which the carriers succeed in caring for the great task of transportation, and the cost to the shipper.

When war necessitated the quick movement of men and material, the government assumed control. There seemed no other course open. Almost immediately the piled-up freight was on its way, and the seemingly hopeless congestion at shipping centers was conquered. At the same time the civil executives of the roads, many of them retaining their positions, did all they could to make government control costly. They deemed it an excellent opportunity to demonstrate the error of the theory.

It was thus that government control never got a fair test, and it is thus that the problem remains unsolved. Whether or not it ever will press for solution must depend largely on the experienced gentlemen who now direct the railroads. If they succeed in satisfying the public, it is unlikely that they will again be disturbed.

BESIDE THE ISSUE

Senator Reed of Missouri excoriated the republican majority for seating Newberry. In milder terms, but in spirit equally condemnatory, they have been excoriated by public opinion throughout the country. The plain truth is that they stand without excuse. In words, they condemned the process by which Newberry had been elected, and at the same time, their acts condoned it. This leaves them with nothing to say worth the saying.

Senator Spencer, also from Missouri, forced by circumstances to make reply, dragged in a letter from the late Theodore Roosevelt expressing belief that Henry Ford "would be signally out of place in the American senate so long as that body is dominated by men who believe in American ideas."

Very interesting, very evidently the sincere expression of a great American, but having nothing to do with the case. Mr. Ford was not on trial at the bar of the senate. Mr. Newberry had the distinction to be the individual standing there. He was given a vindication that did not vindicate. His triumph had no color of victory.

That republicans did wrong in seating Newberry is an opinion doubtless held even by the coteries of partisans responsible. The best they can plead with their own consciences is that the end justified the means; and there is no way for them to prove this.

A FRIEND OF ALL OF US

Pasadena has a very earnest and useful friend in George M. Reynolds, one of the banking authorities of the United States, a financier of international quality and a very useful citizen of America.

Mr. Reynolds spends every year several months at the Hotel Huntington, and while his business associates and connections are in Chicago, his heart turns always to Pasadena and California.

His public addresses and interviews reflect the broad nature of the man and his love for the landscapes, the mountains and the beauty of this favored section, reflect his aesthetic spirit.

Pasadena attracts many citizens of this country and of the world because of its beauty, charm and mild climate. None of them stands higher in the business circles of the country than George M. Reynolds, and to none of them is Pasadena gladder to extend her hospitality and none prouder to claim as a friend.

THE TURBULENT DISSENTERS

From its very opening the disarmament conference began its serene progress to a triumph even complete than its sponsors had dared to anticipate. They had hoped to do something towards establishing world peace, showing the way to international accord, promoting fellowship among the peoples of the earth. That agreement should have been reached, not tentative, not half-hearted; not the mere indication that in time there would be possibility of an understanding, was beyond the dreams of the most sanguine.

During the procedure there was heard the snarling of the malcontent. The type of American, so-called, who conceived Americanism to be advocacy of isolation, of selfishness, of force; neither to give favors nor to receive them; never to trust to human honesty and good faith; never to believe that the world, grown weary of war, longed for tranquility, for a zone of safety embracing the continents and the seas. They saw treachery in every overture, malign pretense in the acceptance of every proposition, a lie in each promise openly given. They suspected depravity in all diplomats. They said that European statesmen were here for the purpose of bamboozling America, and were doing it. They applied epithets to their own representatives. They charged American delegates with conduct no less than treasonable. It is betraying no secret to say that the worst of fenders in these respects were the tribe of scribblers dominated by Hearst. They were prostituting their talents to the scheme of expressing the thoughts of their master. As in the war this had led them into pro-Germanism, so after the war it led them to equal distance from any proper moral or ethical standard, and from normal perception of patriotic duty. These are mentioned in passing, not as important persons, but as characteristic of the opposition that the conference ignored.

Now that the battle has been won to the point where the sanction of deliberative bodies is all that is lacking, it is the right of Americans, and of all concerned to expect that this sanction, far from being withheld, shall be expressed fully, heartily and quickly. For the Hearst outfit to frame ineffective protest, was natural enough. They have not harmed themselves. They had nothing to lose. But can a senator afford to endorse them? That is a question that the senators must face.

There are some senators, it is true, who are so invariably wrong, that they, too, have nothing to lose. This element alone could not block or mar the work of the conference. They would have to have the aid of a senatorial element that still holds respect, and that by joining the dissenters, must forfeit this respect. Can senators afford the sacrifice? What could they gain by it?

THE WORLD'S MINTERS

While Los Angeles contemplates investments amounting to many millions, the whole matter is held up by a trivial suit brought in the name of one Minter.

When the gentleman was approached and asked if he did not consider the desires of a public as important as his own, he is said to have retorted in language suggestive of a soul seething with acrimony. He told the reporter that his (Minter's) business was none of his (the reporter's) business or of the public's either, so shut the door as you go out.

The world is much handicapped by this Minter. This may be said without desire to pass judgment on the projects held back by this particular Minter. No matter what the merit of any plan, there always is a Minter to interfere, to drag, to clog, to be a handicap and a nuisance. No community ever was quite free from the type. They have to be accepted the same as an untimely frost. It is a duty to overcome them; by so doing a community shows its mettle.

All communities desire some sort of betterment. There is no community that will be permitted to acquire the betterment without a fight with the Minters in its midst. Every time one of the tribe is defeated, walked over, trampled into the dust on the highway of progress, a victory has been scored.

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, appointed to a federal judgeship, will be greatly missed at Washington. His personality has been depended upon to preserve the solidarity of the farm bloc. If the continuation of this bloc is desirable, its purposes the promotion of good, doubtless it will be sustained despite the removal of Kenyon. The principles that won the advocacy of the retiring senator, will not be likely to go begging for new and competent leadership.

Papers state that Mrs. Asquith sees no gain from the world war. What she may or may not see in relation to this large subject, is the least consequential equation of human circumstance that might be mentioned. There is no gallantry that demands a feminine pest shall be accepted at her own estimate.

OLOGIES AND ISTRIES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

I had a letter some time ago from a young man in Michigan, saying that he had recently taken up the study of phrenology, and wanted my advice on somebody or other's book that he had just commenced reading.

The book, he said, seemed to cover the subject very thoroughly, both in the text and illustrations. It gave information concerning how to judge a person's character by the size and shape of his head, face, eyes, ears, hands and general appearance.

The young man said that he had met people who thought that phrenology was bosh, and he wished to know whether I believed that a study of this science would broaden his mind and help him in his daily work and social ambitions.

It might.

You never can tell. It might, also, be valuable to take up the study of chess, to investigate the ancient history of free masonry, or to devote one's self to numismatics, pedomanry, necromancy, palmistry, astrology, or the history of the Greek enticities.

Almost any of these are good exercise for the mind. These are very good exercises for people who have not anything else to do.

But in a word where there is so much that is useful, beautiful and constructive, it is difficult to see how anyone can find the time to wander along in such fields.

If, instead of studying phrenology, my young friend will study physiology and philosophy, he will stand a much better chance to find out something about the human creature.

If he is interested in discovering the future, he will be much more likely to be successful if he will study history and find out about the past, instead of poking around with astrology and such things.

If he likes problems, he will find that the study of mathematics will furnish ample scope for his activities, particularly if he will pursue this science into the higher regions of integral calculus and astronomy.

If he is of a turn of mind that disposes him toward experimentation in dealing with exact facts, he has an immense opportunity before him in the study of the sciences, such as botany, zoology, entomology, biology, chemistry and the like.

If he is spiritually inclined, he might take up the study of comparative religions.

If he is fond of languages, there are enough of them to keep him busy for several lifetimes.

In short, this world is so full of toothsome and appetizing food for the mind, that it seems hardly worth while for anyone to eat sawdust just for practice.

THE LISTENING POST

The Cynic met a man with a wooden leg. It was a rough leg, but he had best be satisfied with a bit of square timber. Not such an artificial leg as you might buy in the best places. But it enabled the man to hobble around. With a fair degree of activity.

He stumped along as the saying is. And was able to get from place to place and do a good deal of work. It was a lot better than no leg. For with no wooden leg at all, the man must have hopped. And that would have worn him out.

So he was fairly content with his wooden leg. Till he met the Cynic. And the Cynic poked a lot of fun at the wooden leg. Or at the man with the wooden leg. "No man should use such a leg as that," said the Cynic.

"It is not as good a leg as I might have, but it enables me to get around fairly well," said the wooden legged man. But the Cynic continued to rail at the leg. No man should use such a leg. It was a shame to use wooden legs anyway. Everybody should have two good legs.

For the particular Cynic was a good deal of a Bolshevik. And a parlor socialist. And a lot of advanced things. That he read in books and heard on gatherings of his kind.

Why should one man have two good legs? And another man have to use a wooden one? And a rough wooden one at that. And go pegging along through life. While others rode in motors and others ran around on the golfing green.

It was all wrong. And the man with the wooden leg ought to get rid of it. Refuse to wear it.

He should discard it as a protest against the whole wooden legged system.

And finally he converted the wooden legged man to his way of thinking. And got him to throw away the wooden leg. And proclaim himself an enemy of the whole system of society that let some men wear wooden legs.

And a few days later the Cynic went to see the wooden legged man. And he was sitting on a bench beside his house. With hollow eyes and a hungry look. And he asked the Cynic for a sandwich.

To which the Cynic replied that he had no sandwich.

"Give me a good leg then so I can go out and earn one," said the wooden legged man who had thrown away his leg. "I am hungry." But the Cynic had no good leg to give him. "Then I am in hard luck," said the one legged man. "For I have thrown away my wooden leg and I can't hop all the time."

And a Philosopher came by. After the Cynic had gone. And the one legged man appealed to him. "Why don't you get a wooden leg?" asked the philosopher. "I had one and I threw it away," said the one legged man.

"Why?" asked the Philosopher. "As a protest against society," responded the one legged man. The Philosopher went and got the wooden leg that had been thrown away. "Better use it till you get something better," he suggested.

And the man strapped it on. And went hunting a sandwich. And the Philosopher went his way. Wondering what kind of a system of thinking it was that would destroy religions and philosophies and supports and governments and systems without putting something at least as good or better in the place of them.

SONGS OF THE POETS

The Poplar Field—By William Cowper (1731-1800)

The poplars are felled; farewell to the shade; And the whispering sound of the cool colonnade; The winds play no longer and sing in the leaves, Nor Ouse on his bosom their image receives.

Twelve years have elapsed since I first took a view Of my favorite field, and the bank where they grew; And now in the grass behold they are laid, And the tree is my seat that once lent me a shade.

The blackbird has fled to another retreat, Where the hazels afford him a screen from the heat;

And the scene where his melody charmed me before Resounds with his sweet-flowing ditty no more.

My fugitive years are all hasting away, And I must ere long lie as lowly as they. With a turf on my breast and a stone at my head, Ere another such grove shall arise in its stead.

'Tis a sight to engage me, if anything can, To muse on the perishing pleasures of man; Though his life be a dream, his enjoyments, I see, Have a being less durable even than he.

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

By HENRY JAMES

Sometimes a tragedy of the screen world is not adapted to purposes of filming.

But, of course, the prohibition agent is not outside the law, either.

With visitors barred from the county jail, it is likely that the inmates are pining vainly for their accustomed drugs.

When a man has been murdered mysteriously, if he had no life secrets, accommodating reporters supply the lack.

It is not true that a movie person always desires publicity. Arbuckle has been having it, and losing weight.

In households where gas stoves could not be induced to boil the coffee, the fact that several persons have been burned by contact with such stoves seems strange.

One newspaper comments upon the "eleven million dollar" debt to the United States. Difference between millions and billions not appreciable to the ordinary person.

"The youth who bore through snow and ice, a banner with the strange device," has too many imitators.

A Los Angeles business man is on his way to London in quest of funds for a local enterprise. Perhaps he had not heard that the United States had become the financial capital of the world.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

TWO VIEWS OF SPORT

[Chicago Journal]

About 400 American soldier-students spent three months in residence at Oxford and Cambridge immediately after the war.

They were picked men, including post-graduates from leading American universities. Thousands of other American soldier-students were distributed among other British universities. They were given, by their British hosts, a taste of foreign educational and social life before returning to their own land.

One of the Oxford soldier-students has written his impressions for American readers. Accepting his views as a composite type, we get some illuminating facts as to impressions gained by all these American visitors.

Comparisons are idle. But in general terms we are told that the English universities are places where students are taught to think rather than absorb detailed information. There are fewer

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA STEWART

There are those of us who burn with desire to set others right. "They insist on purity of diction for all and throw on all colloquialisms. They will argue by the hour and write learned letters (which those at whom they are aimed never read) to the newspapers to show less learned ones their ignorance. All this is not without a certain advantage. It may even help some, and may teach others patience. We must have scholarly folk.

But not all of us can rise to their heights. Most of us enjoy more the common vernacular. Vulgar though it may be, "Beat it!" seems to carry more force than "Will you kindly go away?" and "Believe me" asserts more strongly than "You may place confidence in what I say." We don't know why; we only know.

But there is an extreme which even we of the common garden variety of people should avoid. When we assert that everything, from a sunset to the lace on Mary's undies, is "pretty" or "nice," that "horrid" not only describes John's morning grouch, but the slaughter of the Armenians and the soggy pancakes that were the cook's breakfast offering, it's time to sit down with our Websters and solitude and learn the fact that there are several hundred other adjectives, some of them easy to learn and easy to use, in the language that is ours. Variety is the spice of life—in speech, as in other details.

Of course, there are lower depths, such as "Ain't it gra-a-and!" "Oh, it was S-W-a-l-l!"

But none of us who ever read newspapers would be guilty of such. So there's no need mentioning them.

"courses" than in America and fewer mid-term examinations. But there is more individual tutoring and more intensive work on specialized subjects. It is in athletics, however, that one finds really interesting comparisons. At Oxford and Cambridge all the students spend their afternoons on college athletic fields in some form of sport. It may be cricket, or rowing, or basketball, or golf. But there are no "galleries," comparatively speaking. Everyone takes part instead of merely watching others play.

Sports are not highly organized nor run on mathematical lines, as in most American colleges. There are no claqueurs or cheer leaders. Nor do the players seem specially interested about winning a game. They play hard and observe all the rules of clean sport, but seem almost indifferent to the ultimate result of the game. Winners or losers it is all the same. They have played.

And then they have tea. That was the one institution that the American soldier-students found hard to understand at first. But having become convinced that the English afternoon tea habit means social relaxation and good fellowship, as practiced by generations of former students, they rather like it.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

It is interesting to observe that certain dry agents are under arrest charged with cruelty, and gross misuse of authority. However, there is no occasion to jump to any hasty conclusion. If these men are guilty as accused, they are unfit for their positions. This does not mean that the positions should be abolished, and the public left to the tender mercies of the bootlegger. It means only that better men should be named for the vacancies.

Doubtless there are unconscionable rascals in the service of prohibition. Some of them are there as mere tools of the bootleggers. Some of them are there in the hope of gain, of bribes, of getting unclean hands on confiscated stocks in order to become themselves purveyors.

All this does not alter the fact that prohibition is part of the constitution. Good citizenship and sound public policy demand its rigid enforcement.

It is not as though the gross offenders were men ordinarily law-abiding. If the sale of liquor were countenanced by the majority of respectable citizens, there would be open steps to bring about repeal of the law; in truth, there never would have been such a law.

The chronic offenders are characterless adventurers. They are ready to sell poison. The stuff they peddle cannot under any cover of "personal liberty" be deemed fit for human consumption. It blinds or kills its victims, makes raving lunatics, promotes every form of crime. The price charged is a form of larceny.

In the legend "this is a free country" lies no excuse for turning it over to the depraved and greedy bootlegger. No free country could be held in thrall to its basest elements.

To one who likes sports, but as a spectator, much of the talk about professionalism seems foolish.

If during his summer vacation a college boy has a chance to play baseball, earning a little money in this fashion, and the fall finds him back at school, a member of the football eleven, the justice of throwing him out of the game as a professional does not appear.

He would have a right to play checkers in vacation, and by his skill might win professional rank. Being a semi-professional baseball player, does not make him a professional when football is being considered.

College sport should be conducted by real students. That is to say the players should be students first, and players only as incidental to school activities. Whether during vacation the hero of the grid pitches baseball or pitches hay, strikes the spectator as wholly the player's affair.

Not long ago a man planned suicide. With such cunning he planned it, that doubtless he thought it would appear as the act of murder. It did so appear before formal investigation. The casual observer would have said the self-slain man had been the victim of robbers.

There was a story printed not long ago with the title "The Perfect Crime." The perfection was supposed to be in the way the traces pointing to the guilty, had been covered. Not a detail forgotten.

Yet unerringly the clue the criminal regarded as hidden forever, took him to the gallows. There is no perfect crime.

Thirty-eight witnesses in a Chicago court swore to the identity of an accused person. They swore that he was John Harvey. He swore that he was B. M. Ellsworth.

By finger prints he proved that he was not John Harvey, who seems to have been entered on the registry of criminals.

Thirty-eight individuals, demonstrated by one circumstance, to have been wrong. Yet circumstantial evidence often is mentioned as of comparatively trifling value.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

This morning settled it, I think. I'm through being a good thing on rubber tires. The next American citizen or foreign-born item of the proletariat who gets a ride in my car will have to wobble a gun at my right eye. I'm going to hand to the gentlemen who walk on foot the same sort of discourtesy they hand to me. I'm tired being told about my duties.

"You oughta give us a ride," said a big burly this morning. "Why shouldn't ya? Ya got a car, ain't ya?"

Well, that was my fault. Generally I ride rapidly past the sturdy yeoman who hasn't shaved for so long that he thinks a razor is a draw-knife. Not that I'm afraid of any one bending a rod over my head from the rear seat, although such things have happened in this neighborhood. But I object to plain, ordinary, commonplace dirt, whether it is road or workshop, being smeared all over my nice, new clean cushions, and the owners of the dirt can put that in their pipes and smoke it. It would be more fragrant than some of the stuff they smoke in 'em. So that when I stopped the car long enough to pick up a rough-neck who not only didn't have the decency to thank me, but seemed to think I should have bought him a lunch for the privilege of trucking his soiled carcass—that was my fault.

But it wasn't the burly who reorganized my system of giving free rides. It was the woman I picked up at the junction and carried downtown. She flagged me, although she was standing at the car stop. She said she had been waiting for the car and was afraid that she would miss her downtown connection, and would I give her a lift? And I did. And she chattered to me all the way downtown about how uppish some people are who won't give other folks rides in their cars, and about how the people who walk are just as good as those who ride and maybe a little better, if the truth were known. And by and by I came to where three car lines siamased and where she could certainly get a car downtown in time to catch her train, and I indicated that I was not going any farther.

"What!" said she. "What! You're going to stop here? You're not going to take me all the way? Why not?"

There wasn't any answer. I told her, except that I had gone to the end of my route. But the next time I pick up a perfect stranger and give him or her a ride I'll know more about the stranger. We Americans are undoubtedly the grandest people in the world. But some of us do not know any more about courtesy than a pig does of politics.

DO YOU KNOW THAT?

December 27, 1922, marks the centenary of the birth of Pasteur, the father of bacteriology.

If the ancestry of one individual running back to the twelfth century could be written out, using a square inch to each name, it would occupy something like a fourth of a square mile.

MIXED MORTAR READY FOR JOB IS MADE HERE

Glendale Company Prepares to Meet All
Needs

The Glendale Mixed Mortar company, of San Fernando road and Verdugo wash, B. O. Hagen and D. O. Peet, proprietors, is the only firm in Glendale that manufactures lime, putty and mixed mortar, ready for the job. In the past it has been the practice of contractors to mix their mortar right on the job, but the product of this concern eliminates the necessity of doing this and also means a financial saving to the contractor.

This firm also sells sand for concrete and plaster, and screened gravel. Arden Hardwall plaster is also handled.

"Our hauls are shorter," said Mr. Peet, "and for this reason we effect a saving to Glendale contractors. Our service is prompt and we treat every customer square."

SHRUBBERY TIME HAS ARRIVED HERE

"Now is the time to plant shrubbery and trees around the home," says F. H. Reed, proprietor of the Broadway Nursery and Seed store. "If you are just laying out a home place, let us look it over and suggest plants, trees and shrubs for its improvement. We are experienced along this line and we know our business. The appearance of the home place is enhanced 100 per cent by the addition of a lawn and some flowers. Shrubby makes a home more homely and adds greatly to its selling qualities."

This firm does all kinds of landscaping work, such as making lawns and doing general gardening work. It also sells all kinds of seeds, seed potatoes, poultry supplies, etc.

CEMENT WORKS IS ACTIVE IN CITY

R. J. East, 225 South Glendale avenue, is one of the hustling cement contractors of this city. He says that in his line, business was never better. Even through the holidays, he says, he was busy every minute. This speaks well for Glendale, for it shows that even in the slack season there is no let-up in building. Mr. East has a number of large jobs on hand right now and prospects of a number of others within the near future. "It will pay you to see me when you need anything in my line of work," says this contractor.

M. A. Stumpf and F. W. Parr, both well-known real estate men of this city, have taken over the Glendale office of the F. P. Newport company, 115 West Broadway. They have retained as salesmen A. W. Reynolds, A. A. Bardstow and J. P. Simmons, all experienced real estate men.

In addition to handling the beautiful Verdugo Woodlands tract, this firm will also conduct a general real estate business, handling houses, lots, etc., in Glendale, Flintridge, Tujunga, La Crescenta and La Canada. In addition to operating the office on West Broadway this firm will maintain a tract office at the corner of Verdugo road and Canada boulevard. These offices will be kept open seven days a week.

Mr. Stumpf lives at 470 West Burchett street and Mr. Parr lives at 224 South Orange street. They report that Verdugo Woodlands land is selling very rapidly.

SMITH LEADS ELKS
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee took the lead in the singles event of the Elks' national bowling tournament here last night, smashing 692 pins. R. Sampson of Milwaukee went into second place with a total of 652 pins.

HARDWOOD FLOORS REQUIRED HERE

"Hardwood floors are an absolute requisite in the up-to-date home," said the manager of the Glendale Hardwood Flooring company, 304 East Broadway, this morning. Fully 90 per cent of the homes being constructed these days are being equipped with hardwood floors. In fact, a home is not considered modern if it has floors of any other material.

The additional cost of installing hardwood floors is very well spent, for the selling qualities of a home with floors of this kind are far in excess of the home that has floors of any other kind. This is the claim made by the majority of real estate men in Glendale, and they are in a position to know. This firm also scrapes and refinishes old hardwood floors.

BARRYMORE AT THE T. D. & L.

An exceptionally gifted actor, and member of a family distinguished for a century in the annals of the American stage, Lionel Barrymore is one of the world's greatest actors. His first appearance on the silver sheet followed several years ago, and since that time he has been seen in several stage and screen successes, chief among these being "The Copperhead," "Macbeth," "The Claw" and "The Jest." He is now playing on Broadway in "The Claw."

In "Boomerang Bill" Mr. Barrymore's genius is displayed at its best. He is convincing as a gunman and his impersonation of this character will create a sensation among motion picture fans. He has added the advantage of fine direction by Tom Terriss, the great director, and the backing of the wonderful Cosmopolitan producing company's great resources for fine photoplay production.

Special comedies, screen snapshots of the leading picture players, and "Santa Fe," scenic beautiful, will be included in this program of especial interest.

A comedy playlet entitled "The Cheerful Liar" in which appear some very well-known and talented actors, will be presented at the T. D. & L. theatre tomorrow and Thursday nights, in addition to the regular program of pictures.

In addition to "The Cheerful Liar" there will be offered "The Three Live Ghosts," as the feature film attraction, which picture has just finished a very successful showing at Grauman's, Los Angeles. The entire program is of especial interest and offers an extraordinary show, at the regular popular price of admission.

PLUMBING TRADE IS VERY BUSY

"The measure of building that is going on in a city may be judged by the amount of plumbing that is being installed. This would indicate that building in Glendale is 'keeping up,' as the plumbers of this city are busy every minute. 'I have never seen anything like the way building in Glendale is keeping on the hustle,' said W. E. Clark, plumber, 618 East Broadway, this morning. 'Ever since coming here we have been on the jump and the prospects are that things will be humming along indefinitely. We attribute this to the fact that we do every job as good as it possibly can be done, our aim being to do the work as cheaply as it can be executed. When our o. k. is put on a job the Clark guarantee stands behind that piece of work.'"

A Home Owner's Creed

Buy a home first, before you buy booze, before you buy scalpkins or diamonds, before you buy automobiles.

Buy a home first, before you ask the girl to marry you.
Bring her fruit blossoms from her back yard-to-be, and make that offering against the other fellow's record of good intentions in her behalf.

Buy it with $100 down if you have to and then take out an insurance policy guaranteeing that she'll have a roof over her head.

Did you ever know a man who owned his own home who let another fellow kick in the front door, or even let a chunk of mud be thrown at the side of the house? Home owners fight for what they have.

It never was easier to lay aside a competence than at the present time, and there never was a period in our history when the spendthrift was so hard at work as during the last few years.

No man ever gave up a bad habit without substituting something in its stead that appealed to him all over as better, and isn't this substitute for booze and many other forms of reckless expenditure the best part of this buy-a-home-first campaign? Ninety per cent of our people in America at the age of 60 are not able to pay their own rent.
Isn't this a startling condition?

Volume of Business and Lower Raw Material
Responsible

A Glendale concern to bring its prices down to a prewar basis is the Glendale Sheet Metal Works, 127 North Glendale avenue. This is one of the leading sheet metal concerns in the San Fernando valley, and it will mean much to the builder to have prices of sheet metal work cut to the prices that prevailed before the war.
The reason given for this cut is the larger volume of business, which means a lower overhead, and a reduction in the price of raw materials. This concern states that the efficiency of labor remains unchanged by this reduction, only high class work being turned out.

CONCRETE TILE
CO. IS OPERATING

The new and modern plant of the Concrete Building Tile Company, 440 South San Fernando road, is now completed and is running to capacity every day. The first tile made by this concern was used in the construction of the Burd Cooke company's new building just north of the city hall on Howard street. The second order for tile goes to a job on Sunset boulevard.

R. E. Johnson, office manager of this concern, said this morning:
"Our product is as good as anything of the kind manufactured today. It has been approved for use within the fire district of Glendale. Being made of 'wet mix' process, the density of the unit makes a waterproof wall, and is a great deal stronger than any other building unit on the market.
It is the ideal wall to stucco over,
for stucco naturally adheres to concrete. A concrete hollow tile wall will not warp or buckle. It costs about the same as lumber in the beginning, but it is much cheaper in the long run. A house built of concrete hollow tile is from 10 to 15 degrees cooler in summer and warmer in winter. There are many other advantages of concrete hollow tile."

So rapidly is the business of this concern growing that it will put on a night shift within a short time.

MRS. TIGHT MOVES TO NEW QUARTERS

Mrs. Mable L. Tight, one of the best known real estate operators in Glendale, took possession of the newly-renovated storeroom at 630
East Broadway, where she will hereafter be "at home" to her many clients and friends.

A portion of this room will be occupied soon by the Low Building Company and Spencer Robinson, real estate, both of 111 North Glendale avenue. Mr. Robinson has disposed of his building on Glendale avenue, which must be vacated by February 10.

The Low Building Company is erecting a 4-room-and-bath home at 120 South Everett street for Mrs. Mary A. Rogers. This is a Pacific Ready-Cut home, the roughing in of which was completed in five days, by three carpenters.
This home will be finished within one week after the plaster is dry, making about a month for the entire erection of the dwelling.

HORTICULTURIST LOCATES HERE

Roy Coalson, an expert horticulturist, has just located at 529
North Concord street, and is now busy taking care of the lawns, trees and landscape gardening of many of the home places of Glendale. But Mr. Coalson could use a little more work. He does all kinds of landscaping, lawn making,
fruit tree planting and pruning,
and everything else that comes under the horticultural heading. He has been doing this work for years and he knows every branch of it.

Mr. Coalson is an ex-serviceman.
He put in one year at Siberia, where his feet were frozen, this putting him in the hospital for several months. He also suffered a nervous breakdown. But he has "come back," and now his chief desire is to "make the home places of Glendale look a little more presentable."

NEW INDUSTRY HAS COME TO TOWN

An entirely new industry has just made its appearance in Glendale—a cement mantel and floor brick and tile works. This is located at 114 South Glendale avenue and is operated by Keyes & Bergestrom, who have been in this business for years.

Cement bricks for all purposes,
such as porches, chimneys, mantels, etc., and tile for mantels and floors, are manufactured by this concern. The product of this company is furnished in any desired shade, and the tile is made to represent any stone. They are finished in any color combination.
The durability of these products is claimed to be equally as great as the best glazed brick and tile.

LUMBER PRICES ARE ADVANCING

"Lumber prices are on the increase," said the manager of the Glendale Lumber company, 314
North San Fernando road, this morning, "and the wise builder will do well to consider immediate construction."

This company claims to furnish the very finest of lumber at money saving prices, and it makes a specialty of delivering the material on the job as it is needed.

CREDIT MEN ARE JOYFUL AT MEET ON COLLECTIONS

Since Organization of Association Say Payments Improved

Several members of the Glendale Credit Association spoke at the weekly meeting and luncheon of the organization yesterday and were unanimous in their opinion that business had been improved by the advent of the organization in Glendale. They said that it was their belief that collections had improved since the organization started functioning.

There were about 40 members present at the meeting and luncheon and the main topic of conversation centered around the campaign for new members being launched by the membership committee for the month of which Arthur H. Dibbern is chairman. Other members of the membership committee are H. M. Butts and J. M. Wittmeyer. This committee plans to make February the banner month in the credit association and the privilege of using its rating bureau is held out as one of the big inducements to prospective members.

All of the members of the committee are working unceasingly for new members and the works of the organization in Glendale are the chief argument in favor of membership. The committee is pointing out that the matter of extending credit and making collections is the most serious that is facing the business man today. Membership in the credit association and the privilege of using its rating bureau is held out as one of the big inducements to prospective members.

Membership in the organization at present is not as high as it will be in later months when the credit information of the bureau increases. The volume of credit listings determines the fee for membership according to the membership committee and the business or professional man who joins at present is saving considerable on this fee.

Members of the association are finding that the bureau will co-operate with them in the matter of giving credit information over the telephone and are calling Glendale 2272 daily seeking information in the matter of extending credit where if it were necessary to wait until the rating of the applicant of credit could be looked up the sale would possibly be lost.

NEW THOUGHT WAY TOLD BY RILEY

An interesting discourse was given by Dr. Frank Riley before the New Thought society Sunday morning at the Masonic Temple, his theme being: "The Way, the Truth and the Light." He said in part:

Paul said, "Put on the whole armor of God." Romans 13:12, he says, "Let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light. The armor spoken of by Paul refers to the aura which consists of a force emanating from the body of each individual, which like all forces, is invisible in itself, but the wave of thought sets up a vibratory action in the ether, takes form and acts as a mighty influence upon people.

The wave of thought vibrations vary according to temperament, mental and physical conditions. If we are optimistic, we cultivate thoughts that are good, harmonious, ideal in all things, true and develop an unselfish spirit toward all life; our vibrations are raised to higher planes, and all good will be reflected from the aura; we will be surrounded by love, light and truth; we will feel an inspired glow throughout the body.

Why we come here each Sunday morning is to raise our vibrations that we may obtain help for the following week, but this only, is not sufficient to meet the daily trials. Each day, for a few moments we should have a definite purpose for uplifting. In true realization of truth, especially if trouble or a perplexed question arises in material affairs should we ask for a clear, spiritual understanding of all things concerning the matter.

Be positive to the truth, this stimulates the heart action, quickens the circulation, purifies the blood and after a few days you will feel an improvement in health and see a change in daily problems which confront you. The cheerful vibrations which emanate from you will then be able to relieve the pains and sorrows of others, you will be greatly helped, yourself.

We must throw off despair, depression, fear, anxiety and hold to the thought that God is our only supply in every need.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

THE FAVORITE AUTHOR

JAMES W. FOLEY

I like a lot of writing chaps,
I like the things they do;
Some better and some worse, perhaps,
Just as with me and you.
Some write with pleasing grace and style,
Some grave and some are gay,
Some make me cry, some make me smile,
Each in his happy way.

I like Mark Twain and what he wrote,
I'm very fond of Nye.
And Riley kind o' chokes my throat
And makes me want to cry.
I like 'Gene Field and Opie Read,
O. Henry and George Ade,
And most of 'em have got my creed
Of how life should be played.

I like Bret Harte and Hood and Burns
And old Frank Stantop, too,
Whichever way a fellow turns
He finds old friends and new;
And some big, human friendly line
Gives me a human thrill,
And lifts up this dull soul of mine,
And, I hope always will.

Yes, I like writing chaps, I do,
I like the stuff they write,
I like the human touch and true
That fills me with delight,
But for real, gladness joy that shines
Bright, hopeful, warm and clear,
There's nothing like the weekly lines
I get from the Cashier.

He always writes on Saturday
A brief but happy line:
Just "to the order of please pay—"
The payee's name is mine.
I like Shakespeare, the plays of his,
I read them when I can,
But our Cashier, I think he is
My favorite writing man.

EXCAVATION FOR SEWAGE FINISHED

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—Work has commenced on the building of the Sherlock garage located on the boulevard and Santa Anita avenue. The excavation has been completed and running the cement was started Monday. This building will have a 45-foot frontage and will be 100 feet deep.

The brick work on the large apartment building being erected by Mr. Cummings, corner of San Fernando boulevard and Santa Anita avenue, is now completed and plastering will begin in a day or so. These jobs are being done by Carpenter Bros., who came here from Seattle.

Dr. Charles Trapani's apartment building at the corner of Fourth street and Olive avenue, is about completed, and several of the apartments are already engaged.

BURBANK SETS EASTBOUND RATES

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—L. M. Roth, Southern Pacific agent in this city, has received the schedule of rates for the summer travel. The "Back East" excursion rates will be on sale from June 1 to August 15, while the duration of the tickets will be three months but not later than October 31. The rate to Chicago is $106.80 and the rate to Missouri river points is $87.80. The west bound summer excursion fares are the same and the date of sale of tickets is effective from May 15 to September 30, with the limit of ticket October 31.

COLLECTOR CARTER ADVISES TAXPAYERS

"To save themselves time and trouble, and, in many cases, unnecessary expenditures, taxpayers having business with the income tax unit of the bureau of internal revenue at Washington and desiring conference with officials in connection therewith, are advised to ask for such conference in advance," said John P. Carter, collector of internal revenue for this district, today.

A number of taxpayers and their representatives appear at the income tax unit without appointment, and ask immediate hearings. Frequently the conference cannot be held at once for the reason that the papers and information relating to the case must be assembled or the proper official may be otherwise engaged. The result is a delay of a day or two, and added cost to the taxpayer in the way of hotel bills, etc.

Requests for conference should be addressed to the commissioner of internal revenue, Washington, D. C., together with a statement of all the facts in connection with the cases, and the purpose for which it is desired. The taxpayer will be informed by letter or telegram of the date appointed for the conference.

Miss Rose McLaughlin of 816 South Maryland avenue, and Miss Rose Yoke of 720 South Louise street, spent Sunday afternoon and evening with friends in Los Angeles.

VINEY-MILLIKEN CO. READY TO OPEN

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—A few weeks ago M. Love, representing the Hammond lumber interests, came to Burbank, leased ground for a lumber yard and started the foundation of an office. The Viney-Milliken Lumber company, anxious to get a foot-hold in this city, negotiated with the Hammond company for its interest here. A few days ago a deal was concluded and now the Viney-Milliken company is proceeding with the business.

An office building has been started at the corner of Tujunga avenue and First street and a shed 21x112 feet is to be built beside it. Another shed 21x155 will be built on the other edge of the lots leased. The cement for these buildings is being run in the foundation forms now. It is thought they will be ready for the opening of business not later than the first of March.

UNION SUPPLY CO. BURBANK QUARTER

BURBANK, Feb. 7.—A 50-foot addition is being made to the Union Supply company's plant, this bringing the building out to Angeleno avenue, while on the other side will be constructed additional room. There will be six great grain bins each with a capacity of fifty tons, and also a pit 50 feet in length by eight in width and eight in depth. A side track will be laid at once to give switching facilities. Mr. Seneca says he thinks the work will be completed in about six weeks.

SAVE CURRENT BY ADJUSTING GAS

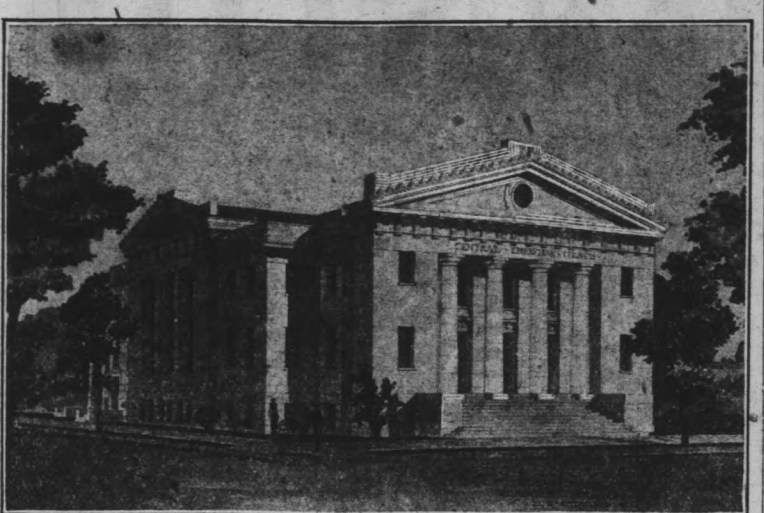

These are the mornings when the average motorist gives his vocabulary of profanity a thorough tryout. The Willard Storage Battery Company of Cleveland says this is the worst season of the year on a battery. This is the season when the motorist is suffering from a congested carburetor. The mixture of gas with which he tries to start the engine is the same as that which was used all summer. It's no longer the driver holds down the starting pedal, the more current he is using from the battery and after a morning or two of such doings the battery will need recharging. It's far better to adjust a carburetor, and save the battery—and it's cheaper in the long run.

E. W. Cizek Auto Electric Company, Colorado and Brand, handles the Willard Battery in Glendale.

Christian Church Lays Corner Stone of New Home

New Home of Worship Building Here

Sunday, February 4, was a busy day for the pastor and people of the Glendale Central Christian church. Not only were the Bible school and the two regular services of worship record-breaking in attendance and interest, but an additional service, that of laying the cornerstone of the handsome new building, was held in the afternoon.

Pastor Cole's morning sermon subject was "An Every Member Church," and he pleaded earnestly for every member to pray and work and give, closing with an appeal for additional funds to carry on the great building project now demanding the attention of all, and that was very successful.

The evening sermon was on the topic "Satan in Kid Gloves," from the text, "Woe to them who call evil good, and good evil." The pastor spoke of the habit of burglars wearing gloves to prevent their leaving finger-prints at the scenes of their crimes, and said many a man living an outwardly correct life was within all sin and sacrilege. "You may fool men," said the speaker, "but you never fool God for a single minute. Some day there will be an accounting and the guilty soul can no longer cover up its foulness." An open and above-board Christian life was advocated, not only because it is right but because it is the best in the end.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon all was in readiness for the cornerstone-laying service. In the large space which will be the main auditorium when the building is completed, chairs were arranged, more than 300 of them, and these were all occupied, with many standing around the edges. The pastor, Clifford A. Cole, was in charge of the services and, after an old familiar hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," had been sung by the choir and congregation, he called on F. M. Rogers, chancellor of the new School of Christianity in Los Angeles, for the invocation. "I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord," was then sung, and a beautiful hymn was rendered by the choir, Mrs. Calvin Whiting directing, with Miss Florence Heacock at the piano. Rev. Cole then gave a brief history of the mission and progress of the building campaign, which was launched three years ago, and the first pledges for funds, $20,000 in all having been taken a year ago this month. The contract was let to W. G. Boyd on August 15 and it is expected the completed building will be dedicated June 4 next.

Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor of the Congregational church, was then called upon, and, as president of the Ministerial union, he, in the name of the other churches in Glendale, felicitated the pastor and people of the Central Christian church on the progress made in the great enterprise before them. He brought greetings and congratulations from the united Christian people of Glendale.

C. R. Hudson, for many years pastor of the great Pomona Christian church and now secretary of the Southern California Christian Missionary association, gave a short address of congratulation and commendation, after which Charles C. Chapman of Fullerton, who never misses an occasion of this kind, gave a happy, joyous talk, stating that he had been present at the dedication of the old building and expected to see the new one consecrated next June.

Mayor Robinson was to have delivered an address on behalf of the city council, but was not present, so Councilman S. A. Davis was prevailed upon to say a few words, which he did in a most happy vein.

F. W. Burnham of St. Louis, president of the United Christian Missionary society of America, who has come to the coast on business for the society, was introduced by Rev. Cole, and gave a short address in which he expressed his gratification at witnessing the rise of such a splendid building to be used for the worship of God.

The choir then sang another beautiful anthem in which they were soloed by Wilbur F. Stock, tenor of Los Angeles, and a former member, and Harry Marple, baritone.

A. C. Smither, for over 20 years pastor of the Los Angeles First Christian church and now chairman of the committee on church erection, was next introduced as the chief speaker of the day. After some good-natured gibes at Rev. Cole, who he said never missed an opportunity to "blow about Glendale's marvelous growth," even utilizing some unoccupied time at a funeral in Kansas when he visited there last summer, for that purpose, he launched into a most eloquent address replete with profound thought and wonderful pictures. He spoke of the church house as a place primarily for worship but also for work and social
